Wayne Twp.

The first permanent settlement was made on the Congress land in the northeast portion of the township. No one known to have preceded Aaron Patterson in the occupancy of the soil. He was a New Jersey farmer, entered the southeast quarter of Section 25 about one mile east of Dundee, settled there in 1808 and remained through life. He is said to have married five times in succession. His children were John, who died in early manhood; William, who was a methodist, and attained a ripe old age in this township; Uriah and Aaron, who removed to Pittsburgh, Pa.; Obadiah, who went west; Jesse, a resident of Sandusky; Rachel (Hoagland), who returned to New Jersey; Hannah (Jennings) who moved to the West; and Mary (Kint) who became a resident of Sugar creek Township. Obadiah served in the War of 1812.

The sign says Hick and Neighbor, Boots and Shoes - located on the corner of River and Canal Street. The building was built in 1827. It was originally a tannery owned by Aaron Schenck. In 1850 the building belonged to Elisa Patterson and in later years to George R. Little. In 1871 the property transferred to C. F. Hicks and Horace Little who held it for two years. By 1880 the building was owned by Lewis Carhart and this photo was taken sometime after then.

Beers in May, 1873, by foreclosure of mortgage, after having been suspended while the case was in litigation. In September, 1873, it was purchased by Dr. W. H. Dunham and J. A. Buchanan, both of Barnesville, who converted it into the Newcomerstown Argus. After several changes in ownership, it came into the possession of A. W. Search and J. A. Buchanan, who retained it until the property was destroyed by fire November 20, 1877. The town was then without a paper until January 1, 1878, when W. V. Kent and W. Ferguson moved an office from Cadiz and commenced the publication of the Eye. This paper, having become the property of A. W. Johns October 18, 1879, it was regularly issued as the Newcomerstown Eye until August 20, 1881, when the paper suspended. It was purchased, in March, 1882, by A. C. Hursey, who re-christened it the Newcomerstown Index. Mr. Hursey, during his proprietorship, associated with him upon the editorial staff C. W. Knisely and afterward Cliff Sultzter. The present proprietor and editor, Wick W. Wood, took charge of the paper March 1, 1883.

Newcomerstown has had its full complement of the various industrial shops which usually flourish in villages and towns. The first pottery was established by Harmon and Gustavus Fox, about forty years ago. It was situated on Main street near the W. & L. E. Railroad. About 1870, another pottery was erected and put in operation on State street, between River and Goodrich, by George Bagnall, but it is now a relic of the past. The first tannery was owned by Aaron Schenck. It was built about 1827, and stood on the southwest corner of Canal and River streets. About 1850 it became the property of Elias Patterson, and a few years later, of George R. Little. In 1871, Horace Little and C. F. Hicks took possession and held it for two years, and in 1880 it was purchased by Lewis Carhart, who has carried on the business to the present time. Five or six years after the first tannery was set in operation, David Mulvane built one on West Main street, where the business was continued until within a few years. The first saw mill was built by Edmund Smith about 1833, directly north of the canal on Buckhorn Creek. The Eureka Planing Mill was erected by John Wilson, George Benton and J. R. Mulvane in 1875, and continued in operation seven years.

William Gardner and Paul Roberts were the first millers. As early as 1836 they erected the mill which stands at the west end of Main street. Their successors have been Elias Patterson and Isaac Hamersley, William Gaskill, Mr. Patterson; then in 1866, W. J. Patterson and William Marlatt, succeeded by Jesse A. Wiandt, the present proprietor, who does an extensive commercial business. A second mill was built by William H. Craig in 1853, on the south side of the canal, opposite the former mill. The subsequent owners and operators of the mill have been Abraham Dean, William Marlatt, Marlatt & Patterson, Wilkin & Ayers and A. J. Wilkin, the present owner. It is a custom mill and does a good business.

James Pilling started a woolen mill in 1838, on the banks of the Tuscarawas, about a mile east of town. In 1845, Thomas Benton joined him as a partner. James Pilling rebuilt the mill on a larger scale in 1870, and it was operated for ten years. Since 1880, the mill has been lying idle.

A foundry was built in 1879, by Kenyon & Ferguson, but was shortly afterward destroyed by fire. A second one began operations in 1880, under the management and ownership of Elliott & Clark, who in the spring of 1883 disposed of it to Carhart & Williams. By them it was removed from the banks of the canal to new and commodious buildings near the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad. It is now known as the Peerless Bell and Machine Works.

The Enterprise Manufactory, built a few years ago and now owned and JOSEPH BUKEY, farmer, P. O. Tracy, was born in Ohio County, W. Va., February 10, 1810, and is the son of John and Agnes (McMahon) Bukey, natives of Virginia. His mother came to Ohio in 1833, being at the time a widow, and was followed by Joseph some time afterward. She had a family of thirteen children, of whom our subject and William survive. The subject of this sketch was united in marriage in 1835 (26 February) to Miss Theresa, daughter of Thomas and Dorcas Brock, natives of Virginia. Mrs. Bukey was a member of a family of sixteen children, nine of whom are living-- Agnes M., wife of H. Morgan, of Illinois; Anna M., now Mrs. David Patterson, of Tuscarawas County, Ohio; John B., and Thomas B. of Tuscarawas County, Ohio, William McB., of Holt County, Neb., James F.B., of Newark, Licking County, Ohio; Virginia Hunkins, widow, residing in Holt County, Mo.; Matilda, wife of P. Houk; Eudora, wife of Alexander S. Clemens, James B., practicing physician in Ohio, having studied under the preceptorship of D. Myers, of Uhrichsville, Ohio, and a graduate of Ann Arbor, Michigan. Mr. Bukey and his wife are members of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He is now in his seventy-fourth year, and is one of the oldest pioneers and citizens of Rush Township.

"The grist mill was built in 1854 by Walter M. Blake. He operated it until his death, and his administrators sold the property to Richard Johnson, from whom the present owner, J. W. Patterson, obtained it. The mill originally contained three run of buhrs. Mr. Patterson added the fourth, but in the summer of 1883, he adopted the roller process, and refitted the mill with the necessary machinery. The mill is situated on the canal, and is operated by water power. Besides transacting a custom business, the proprietor ships considerable flour to the East."

Ellen,

Have checked the Ohio Census Index from 1830 thru 1860 for Elias Patterson. Found him in Gu. Co 1830 and 1840 (enclosed). Only head of household are listed in these census, family members are not listed until 1850.

Have checked all Gu. Co Histories and find Elias owning land in 1840 in Gu. Co. Gu. Co Recorder Vol. 8, pg. 306 shows Elias and Sarah living in Tuscarawas in 1845. Have checked the Tuscarawas information that we have in our library. You might want to check Tuscarawas Co. Genealogy Society

New Philadelphia, OH 44663-1041

Enclosed is a will of Daniel Patterson - father of Elias - which shows his (Daniel's) children.

Since Sarah died in 1886 (where?) you should find a death certificate and possibly an obit which might list her parents in children, or even a will for either Elias or Sarah.

Beers in May, 1873, by foreclosure of mortgage, after having been suspended while the case was in litigation. In September, 1873, it was purchased by Dr. W. H. Dunham and J. A. Buchanan, both of Barnesville, who converted it into the Newcomerstown Argus. After several changes in ownership, it came into the possession of A. W. Search and J. A. Buchanan, who retained it until the property was destroyed by fire November 20, 1877. The town was then without a paper until January 1, 1878, when W. V. Kent and W. Ferguson moved an office from Cadiz and commenced the publication of the Eye. This paper, having become the property of A. W. Johns October 18, 1879, it was regularly issued as the Newcomerstown Eye until August 20, 1881, when the paper suspended. It was purchased, in March, 1882, by A. C. Hursey, who re-christened it the Newcomerstown Index. Mr. Hursey, during his proprietorship, associated with him upon the editorial staff C. W. Knisely and afterward Cliff Sultzzer. The present proprietor and editor, Wick W. Wood, took charge of the paper March 1, 1883.

Newcomerstown has had its full complement of the various industrial shops which usually flourish in villages and towns. The first pottery was established by Harmon and Gustavus Fox, about forty years ago. It was situated on Main street near the W. & L. E. Railroad. About 1870, another pottery was erected and put in operation on State street, between River and Goodrich, by George Bagnall, but it is now a relic of the past. The first tannery was owned by Aaron Schenck. It was built about 1827, and stood on the southwest corner of Canal and River streets. About 1850 it became the property of Elias Patterson, and a few years later, of George R. Little. In 1871, Horace Little and C. F. Hicks took possession and held it for two years, and in 1880 it was purchased by Lewis Carhart, who has carried on the business to the present time. Five or six years after the first tannery was set in operation, David Mulvane built one on West Main street, where the business was continued until within a few years. The first saw mill was built by Edmund Smith about 1833, directly north of the canal on Buckhorn Creek. The Eureka Planing Mill was erected by John Wilson, George Benton and J. R. Mulvane in 1875, and continued in operation seven years.

William Gardner and Paul Roberts were the first millers. As early as 1836 they erected the mill which stands at the west end of Main street. Their successors have been Elias Patterson and Isaac Hamersley, William Gaskill, Mr. Patterson; then in 1866, W. J. Patterson and William Marlatt, succeeded by Jesse A. Wiandt, the present proprietor, who does an extensive commercial business. A second mill was built by William H. Craig in 1853, on the south side of the canal, opposite the former mill. The subsequent owners and operators of the mill have been Abraham Dean, William Marlatt, Marlatt & Patterson, Wilkin & Ayers and A. J. Wilkin, the present owner. It is a custom mill and does a good business.

James Pilling started a woolen mill in 1838, on the banks of the Tuscarawas, about a mile east of town. In 1845, Thomas Benton joined him as a partner. James Pilling rebuilt the mill on a larger scale in 1870, and it was operated for ten years. Since 1880, the mill has been lying idle.

A foundry was built in 1879, by Kenyon & Ferguson, but was shortly afterward destroyed by fire. A second one began operations in 1880, under the management and ownership of Elliott & Clark, who in the spring of 1883 disposed of it to Carhart & Williams. By them it was removed from the banks of the canal to new and commodious buildings near the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad. It is now known as the Peerless Bell and Machine Works.

The Enterprise Manufactory, built a few years ago and now owned and

She died 3 July 1919, 74y 9m 15d, Newcomerstown, Ohio. Both are buried in East State Street Cemetery, Newcomerstown, Ohio. Their tombstone is a large monument with a female figure overlooking their graves. Jack's obituary says of him "Uncle Jack" as he was familiarly called, delighted in the society of young folks, and in years past when both enjoyed better health, "Uncle Jack and "Aunt Ell" Creter threw open their doors to the young people for parties of every description. In those days each succeeding generation of young folks was received into the home and hearts of this hospitable couple, who chaperoned them through the party and picnic stages of life. Most of these young folks are middle age now, with children of their own to demand their attention, but still retain a place on their hearts for "Uncle Jack" and "Aunt Ell".

In her will Mary Ellen Creter left cash bequests to known heirs of both the Creter and Patterson families and $300 dollars each to both St. Paul's Lutheran and First Presbyterian churches. One thousand dollars was to be given to the Trustees of the Newcomerstown Cemetery to be held in trust and used for the perpetual care of plots in East State Street Cemetery where she and her husband and both sets of parents were, or would be buried. The large stone had apparently been already erected before her death. She also left instructions for monuments of Barre granite be placed at other burial sites where grime from the railroad had already eroded their earlier marble stones until they were illegible. She then directed that her "house and lot with all appurtenances thereto belonging" be given to Newcomerstown for a hospital, providing the town could provide $3,000 dollars annually to maintain and operate. The town declined the bequest. In which case she then directed that the beneficiary would be Union Hospital and were instructed to sell the property with proceeds to be used "for the purpose of equipping and maintaining one or more free beds for the benefit of indigent patients".

They had no children.

AUNT ELLEN CRETER
DIES OF PNEUMONIA

Wednesday July 9, 1919

The death of Mrs. Mary Ellen Creter which occurred at her home, corner of Church and Bridge Streets, Thursday, July 3, following a brief illness of pneumonia, marks a passing of a woman beloved, especially by the younger folks, and respected by all.

In years past the home of "Uncle Jack" and "Aunt Ell" Creter was the mecca of young folks of this city, where royal good times were enjoyed. Any time, day or night, this hospitable pair were ready to give over their commodious home to the young folks for parties or any wholesome amusement. In the latter years of their life they took much delight in reminiscences of the many happy occasions which were held in their home. Since the death of her husband several years ago, Mrs. Creter has lived alone practically all the time, with the exception of occasional visits with relatives and friends.

Mary Ellen Patterson was born in Guernsey county September 18, 1844, and died July 3, 1919, aged 74y, 9m, and 15 days. She was the daughter of Elias and Sarah Weirick Patterson, and was the last of a family of eleven children. Nearly all her life was spent in Newcomerstown. She was married to Andrew Jackson Creter which union there were no children.

Mrs. Creter was of a deeply religious nature and had been a member of the Presbyterian Church for many years, manifesting unusual interest in the work of her local church during the last years of her life. While never of rugged health, she lived to a ripe old age. Her last illness was brief and her passing peaceful.

Funeral services were held at the home Sunday at 4 p.m., conducted by her pastor, Dr. Glenroie McQueen, assisted by Rev. L. Bowman, former pastor of the local M.E. Church and close friend of the deceased. A mixed quartet from the Presbyterian Church furnished music for the occasion. Interment was made in the local cemetery.

What is the connection between a vacant lot in Newcomerstown, two large monuments in the East State Street Cemetery, Union Hospital at Dover and Newcomerstown Ordinance 11-92, passed recently into law by the Newcomerstown village council?

The involved answer recently uncovered by former cemetery superintendent, Terry Jurin, should interest many local history lovers. His curiosity was aroused when he began wondering about the source of approximately 10,000 which has become the nest-egg for the newly established expendable trust fund for the "perpetual care and enlargement of the cemeteries of the village of Newcomerstown."

What he sought in a trip to the Tuscarawas County Courthouse was the will of Mary Ellen Creter, written shortly before her death in 1919. His conclusion was that Mrs. Creter was a very public-spirited woman for her time.

Quite amazing now is the fact that in 1919 the village of Newcomerstown had, but relinquished, the opportunity to establish its own hospital.

Most local residents will easily recall the large white house, torn down only a few years ago, which stood on the southwest corner of S. Bridge and Church streets. Originally this was the spacious residence of a childless couple — Andrew Jackson Creter and his wife, Mary Ellen.

Their attractive front porch was a popular stopping place to rest and visit when walking was the usual means of travel. In the pre-1913 flood days, I frequently was a visitor there when I accompanied a neighbor on shopping trips downtown, none of which would have seemed complete without a stop at "El-Jack's." Unfortunately, I never inquired why Mrs. Creter bore that nickname. But I remember the luxury of sitting on that porch on a hot summer day watching the C&M trains go by.

Andrew Jackson Creter (1829-1913) was a son of Andrew Creter, who came here from New Jersey in 1817 and in 1841 established what is now known as the Old Temperance Tavern Museum. The whole Creter family background can be found in the 1884 History of Tuscarawas County at our local library. It contains the biographies of Morris Creter and Sarah P. Creter, the elder Andrew's brother and sister who came to Newcomerstown from New Jersey in 1830.

Mary Ellen Creter, born in 1844, was a daughter of Elias and Sarah Patterson. When she died in 1919 the area surrounding her home was still bustling with plenty of rail traffic on both the C&M and the Pennsylvania, only a block to the south. Across Bridge Street was the Fountain Hotel, also a busy place.

Mrs. Creter's will covered many pages, meticulously prepared by her attorney, John Hance of New Philadelphia. She left cash bequests to known members of both the Creter and Patterson families and $300 each to both St. Paul's Lutheran and First Presbyterian churches. One thousand dollars was given to the trustees of the Newcomerstown Cemetery to be held in trust and used for the perpetual care of plots in the East State Street Cemetery where she and her husband and both sets of parents were, or would be, buried. Apparently, the monument marking her and Andrew's graves, the large stone topped by a female figure which is easily seen from West Street, had already been erected. But Mrs. Creter directed that an imposing monument of Barre granite was to be placed at the other burial sites where grime from the railroad adjoining the northeast and oldest section of the cemetery already had eroded the earlier marble stones until they were illegible.

After all these instructions had been carried out, she directed that her "house and lot with all appurtenances thereto belonging" be given to Newcomerstown to convert into a hospital. With the gift was a bequest of $1,000 to be used in helping provide equipment. But all this depended upon the town's ability to provide at least $3,000 annually to maintain and operate the hospital. Should the village at any time fail to fulfill its annual obligation, the entire bequest was to go to Union Hospital.

Obviously the prospect of finding $3,000 every year in a small struggling village like Newcomerstown proved insurmountable to local officials and the offer was rejected. In that case Union Hospital was instructed to sell the property, with the proceeds "for the purpose of equipping and maintaining one or more free beds for the benefit of indigent patients."

Meanwhile, the $1,000 bequest provided for perpetual cemetery care was put in a bank and drew modest interest which now has accrued to approximately $10,000, with very few expenditures from the fund having been made to the present time.

Mary Ellen Patterson was born in Guernsey county Sept. 18, 1844, and died July 3, 1919, aged 74 years, 9 mo. and 15 days. She was the daughter of Elias and Sarah Weirick Patterson, and was the last of a family of eleven children. Nearly all of her life was spent in Newcomerstown. AN AGED PIONEER DEPARTS THIS LEE

After an illness of several months duration, Andrew Jackson Creter, one of the oldest pioneer residents of Newcomerstown, died at his home on Bridge st. early last Thursday morning, Sept. 18, in his 85th year. For several weeks past, his condition was considered hopeless, and each passing day left him a little weaker. The end came peacefully, in the nature of a deep sleep, without a perceptible sign of pain or suffering.

"Uncle Jack," as he was familiarly called, delighted in the society of young folks, and in years past when both enjoyed better health, "Uncle Jack" and "Aunt El" Creter threw open their doors to the young people for parties of every description. In those days each succeeding generation of young folks was received into the home and hearts of this hospitable couple, who chaperoned them safely through the party and picnic stage of life. Most of those young folks are middle-aged now, with children of their own to demand their attention, but they all still retain a place in their hearts for "Uncle Jack" and "Aunt El."

The deceased's parents, Andrew and Elizabeth Creter, came to this locality from New Jersey in 1818, and to them were born five children—Clark, Catharine, Ann, Elizabeth and Andrew Jackson. The mother died when A. J. was but 7 days old. His aunt, Sarah Creter, then came here from New Jersey and took charge of the 5 children, remaining in the household sixty years. They were then living in a log house near the intersection of State and Carlisle sts. Aunt Sarah died at the age of 90.

A. J. Creter, the subject of this sketch, was united in marriage to Mary Ellen Patterson, daughter of Elias and Sarah Patterson, early settlers, June 4, 1868, establishing their first home in the old Carhart property, central Canal st., and later built on their present location, where they have resided ever since. Mr. Creter is survived only by his wife.

The deceased parents, Andrew and Elizabeth (Neighbor) Creter, came to this locality from New Jersey in 1818, and to them were born five children --- Clark, Catherine, Ann, Elizabeth and Andrew Jackson. The mother died when Andrew was but 7 days old. His Aunt Sarah Plum Creter, then came from New Jersey and took charge of the five children remaining in the household sixty years. They were then living in a log house near the intersection of State and Carlisle Streets. Aunt Sarah died at the age of 90.

A. J. Creter the subject of this sketch, was united in marriage to Mary Ellen Patterson, daughter of Elias and Sarah Patterson, early settlers, June 4, 1868, establishing their first home in the old Carhart property, Central Canal and later built on their present location, where they have remained ever since. Mr. Creter is survived only by his wife.

Funeral services were held last Saturday afternoon from the residence, conducted by the Rev. Lafayette Bowman, pastor of the M.P. Church, assisted by the church choir. The floral offerings were very elaborate and beautiful. Internment was in the village cemetery.

Among those from out of town who attended were: O.J. Powelson, John Hance, and Miss Mary Hance of New Philadelphia, Miss Fanny Gross from Gnadenhutten, Miss Minnie Duff of Uhrichsville, Mrs. Helen Stevenson, Mrs. Anna Broome, Alfred Peck, McAbee Shaw and daughter from Coshocton, Mrs. Nora Bacon and Mrs. Aaron Patterson of Grant Iowa, Mrs. Dora Grosline of West Lafayette, Mr. and Mrs. John Rogers of Kenton, Ohio, Will Shaw of Pittsburgh, Andrew Burt, of Van Wert, Ohio and Grandma Kinner of Uhrichsville

Anderson, who is deceased; Nancy M., the wife of John Allaway, making her home in New Philadelphia; Thomas D., deceased; Margaret J. married to William White, of Liberty; James M., working at his trade of a painter in that place, which is also the home of Milton; and one who died in infancy. The town of Liberty, now known as Kimbolton, was founded by the father of our subject.

Mr. Gibson is a devoted member of the United Presbyterian Church, to the support of which he is a willing and liberal contributor. In politics he has been a straightforward Republican ever since the formation of the party, and on that ticket has served in the responsible offices of Township Clerk, Constable and Supervisor. He is widely known throughout the county, and although now ninety years of age, bids fair to see the dawn of nineteen hundred.

BENSON L. GRIMM, a well known citizen of New Philadelphia, is one of her practical business men, and for nearly his entire life has resided within her limits. He conducts a good livery, which is well supplied with a fine line of coaches, carriages and buggies. In connection with this, he runs a horse-shoeing shop, and has all repair work done under his personal supervision.

The parents of our subject were John and Harriet (Gants) Grimm. The father was a native of Pennsylvania, but came to Ohio with his parents in childhood. He was reared on a farm on the line of the Old Town Valley Road. On arriving at man's estate, he followed farming, and also occasionally did carpenter work. For a number of years he was a preacher in the Methodist denomination, and while holding a protracted meeting at Blakes Mills he was suddenly stricken with congestion of the brain, which resulted in his death. In politics he was a Republican. His wife is still living, her home being in New Philadelphia. She was born and reared in Carroll County, Ohio, and her parents were also natives of the Buckeye State. John and Harriet Grimm had a family comprising six children: Sarah E., now the wife of George W. Bowers, of this city; Hiram A. and George M., whose homes are in West Virginia; Mary, Mrs. John Hammond, of Blakes Mills; Benson L.; and Hattie E., wife of C. M. Law, of this place.

The birth of our subject occurred November 1, 1854. He was reared under the parental roof, and received his elementary education in the district school. When nineteen years of age he began learning the blacksmith's trade of Charles Haupt, and served a three-years apprenticeship. After completing his term of service, he continued for a year as a journeyman, after which he embarked in business for himself on East Front Street. In connection with his blacksmith shop, he carried on a livery business for about nine years, and made a specialty of furnishing carriages and hearses for funerals, coaches for parties, etc. In his wagon shop he has been engaged in manufacturing and general repairing. In 1890 he removed from his old stand to his present place of business, selling out everything except the livery. This he has since conducted with success.

Our subject carries a fine and well selected line of various kinds of carriages, and among others has four coaches, which he purchased at a cost of $1,000 each. The arrangement of his livery stable is very complete; the carriages are kept in one department, and separate places are devoted to horses, harness, hay, feed, etc. The livery is lighted with electricity, and is modern in all its appointments. Mr. Grimm owns about half of the business block in which his livery is located, and has erected several fine dwelling-houses in other parts of the city, which are attractive in appearance and built on the most approved plans. The kindness and benevolence of our subject are well known in this locality, and when death has entered the family of some poor person he has frequently supplied coaches free, and those, too, of the very best in his possession. November 15, 1876, Mr. Grimm married Hannah B. Patterson, who was born in this county. The parents of Mrs. Grimm were W. J. and Amanda (Pierce) Patterson, old settlers of this county. The former was for years connected with Blakes Mills, but is now deceased. To our worthy subject and his wife have been born six children, namely: William, Pearl, Myrtle, Oscar, Ambrose and Ivey. Myrtle and Ambrose have both been called to their final rest. Mr. and Mrs. Grimm are faithful workers and members of the Lutheran Church.

Our subject affords a strong illustration of what application, industry and energy can accomplish. He is self-made in every sense of the word, having carved out his own fortune, and has prospered in his various undertakings. In disposition he is upright and honorable, and he is fortunate in possessing the esteem and confidence of the entire community. Fraternaly he belongs to Schoenbrun Lodge No. 107, I. O. O. F., and has passed through all the chairs of Equity Lodge No. 75, K. of P. In politics he uses his ballot in favor of the Republican party, and takes great pride in the success of the organization.

SAMUEL SCOTT has been for some thirty years a leading business man of Uhrichsville, but is now living retired from active cares. While living in New Cumberland he served as Postmaster of the place, under Lincoln's administration, but with that exception has never held public office. He has made his home in Tuscarawas County for nearly sixty years, and has always been greatly interested in its improvement and development.

The parents of our subject were Alexander and Gertrude (Kerr) Scott, the former a native of Ireland, and the latter of New Jersey. With his parents, Alexander Scott emigrated to America in 1784, when he was nine years of age, came to this county in 1835, and died on his farm in 1853, when in his seventy-eighth year. His father, William H., also a native of Ireland, emigrated to the United States with his son, and died in Washington County, Pa., when in his eighty-ninth year.

Mrs. Gertrude Scott was born in 1786, and died April 5, 1865. By her marriage she had become the mother of eleven children, as follows: William, a retired business man of Scio, Ohio; Samuel, next in order of birth; Eliza, Mrs. Joseph Meeks, of Washington County, Iowa; Maria, now deceased, formerly the wife of Rev. Mr. Bartholomew, of Goshen, Ind.; Albert, who is engaged in farming in Tuscarawas County; Robert and Sarah, both deceased, the latter formerly the wife of John Ralston, of Bowling Green, Ind.; Caroline, widow of Dr. John McGreggor, of Indiana; Louis, a resident of Waynesburg, Ohio; Margaret, wife of Galen Smith, a retired carpenter of this place; and Walter, who died in infancy.

Samuel Scott is a native of Washington County, Pa., and his birth occurred October 20, 1815. He was reared to farm work, and was also employed in a mill. With his father he came to Tuscarawas County in 1835, and in February, 1838, located on a farm in Sandusky County. There he remained for sixteen years, engaged in raising cattle and other enterprises. For six years he derived a good income from the manufacture of potash, and for a like period of time kept a public house. In 1854 he returned to Tuscarawas County, and for about six years ran a gristmill near Zoar. In 1860 he traded this place for a stock of dry goods which he removed to New Cumberland, where he was located for the next six years. In 1865 he came to Uhrichsville, and while here he has managed a grocery and meat-market the main part of the time, but gave up active business in 1887.

December 28, 1837, was celebrated the marriage of our subject and Mary, a daughter of Nicholas and Ann E. (Cree) Van Buskirk. Mrs. Scott was born February 2, 1816, in Greene County, Pa. Her father was a native of eastern Pennsylvania, and died in 1828, when in his forty-seventh year. His wife departed this life in 1853, aged sixty-seven years. Of the nine brothers and sisters of Mrs. Scott, Jane, now deceased, was the wife of Thomas Whitcraft, of Carroll County; Sarah, deceased, was the wife of Moses Williams, of this county; Catherine, Mrs. Van Buskirk, is deceased; Lawrence, formerly of Peoria, Ill., has passed from this life, as have also the three younger brothers, Will-

Creter family helped establish the museum

By Iris Fruchey

In 1841, Andrew Creter saw the need for a place for bed and breakfast accommodations so he purchased a tract of land bordering on the old Erie Canal here in Newcomerstown. That spot is known as the Old Temperance House Museum.

Creter rounded up a crew of workers and constructed the Temperance Tavern. The building was made of native timbers. The woodwork in the home is made of walnut and the bricks were all handmade on the property.

Not only were the canal boats going by the property, but it was also near the stagecoach route to Scio. It wasn't long after that until the C & M and the Pennsylvania railroads were going through Newcomerstown. The Erie Canal was finished in 1828 and the railroads were completed in 1858.

Shortly after the Temperance Tavern was built, Creter's wife passed away and he had his two sisters come from New Jersey to help with the cooking and other household duties.

When you visit the museum, one of the most interesting items in the home is the large original fireplace in the basement (tavern room). You will also see the original walnut table where the early guests ate their meals which were cooked at the fireplace. Several of the original iron pots are still on display. You will also see the oven where the bread and other goodies were baked.

To the left of the fireplace, you will see the opening to the underground railway where a number of slaves took refuge. It was arranged so that at a moment's notice they could travel up through this passageway to the third floor and stay until the "all clear" signal was given.

It is noted that Ohio had more underground railroads than any other state. It is believed that Newcomerstown had four of them.

The third floor of the museum is now used for storage, but in the 1840's it was a place where people of questionable character were assigned and as previously stated, it was a harbor of safety for the runaway slaves.

There are many other items of interest at your local museum.

We have many points of interest in our town and we look forward to many more happy and prosperous times. Andrew's w.d. 1829
