HOW MUCH A “MICKLE” IS, DEPENDS LARGELY UPON WHAT THE RETURN ON SAVINGS IS. THAT IS WHY THE RECENT INCREASE IN INTEREST RATES IS SUCH GOOD NEWS FOR AMERICA’S SAVERS.

THE MONEY WE ARE ABLE TO PUT BY THIS WEEK MAY NOT SEEM MUCH, BUT IF WE SAVE REGULARLY, EVEN ONE PLUS ONE OR TWO PLUS TWO, BUILDING UP OVER THE YEARS WITH INTEREST ADDED, CAN AMOUNT TO A TIDY SUM FOR THE FUTURE FINANCIAL SECURITY OF THE FAMILY.

THE COVER

With the Autumn Season in full swing many beautifully colored landscapes are appearing in the middle west. If your a camera fan you'll want to record many of these fine Autumn color scenes.

The President's Page

A few weeks ago I had an opportunity to visit one of our manufacturing plants with a Clow salesman. He's one of our outstanding men. Let's call him Jim (even though that is not his real name). Jim hadn't been back to the plant in 14 years and in a conversation I had had with him some time prior to this plant visit he had expressed concern and some doubt over the quality of our product and the effectiveness of our inspection methods. The plant visit was the result - sort of bringing sales to manufacturing and manufacturing to sales.

You would have been delighted to see Jim's enthusiasm increase with every stop he made throughout the plant as he paused to chat with some old time friend and to observe the work being done. He was amazed at the improvements in plant, methods, and equipment that had taken place in the few years since he had been back. You'd get a kick, too, out of the attention given his suggestion for change on an item that gave trouble when our contractor-customer tried to install it in the field.

Later in an informal "round table" visit with foremen and supervisors, Jim told of some of the problems of selling and how much he appreciated the extra service he had received on a recent RUSH order. How, with the help of the plant personnel, he had won a new customer for the company. He pointed out to these operating men that they too were an important part of the sales force and their work not only in making the best product but also in meeting the delivery requirements of the job often meant the difference between holding and losing a customer. He complimented them for the unusual service given on a recent order when the plant, acting on its own initiative, actually set up the order, under the conditions of the job, to make sure that all measurements would be met. As a result, the material arrived on the job, as scheduled, was installed without a hitch and now the contractor says he will never buy anything in our line from anyone but us.

When we left for Chicago we felt that both sales and operating had been benefited by the meeting. After all, our big job is to keep our customers buying from us. The surest way to do this is to keep them pleased and satisfied with the quality of our products and to meet the delivery schedule that their work requires.

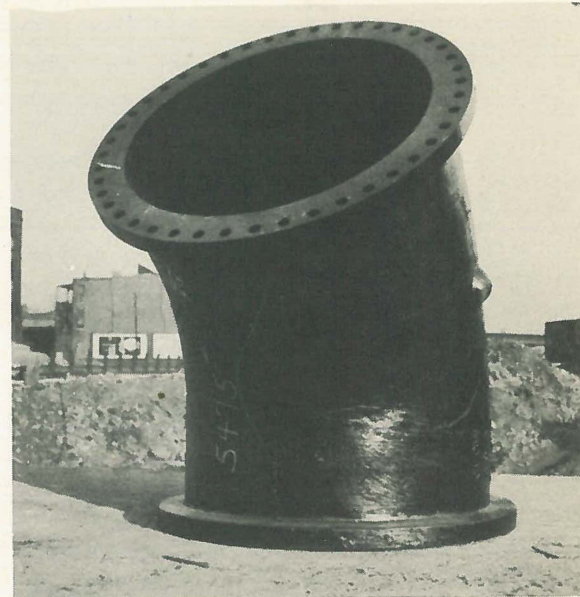

I'm certain all of us will work together toward this goal.

CLOW Fittings

are used in Sewer Siphons

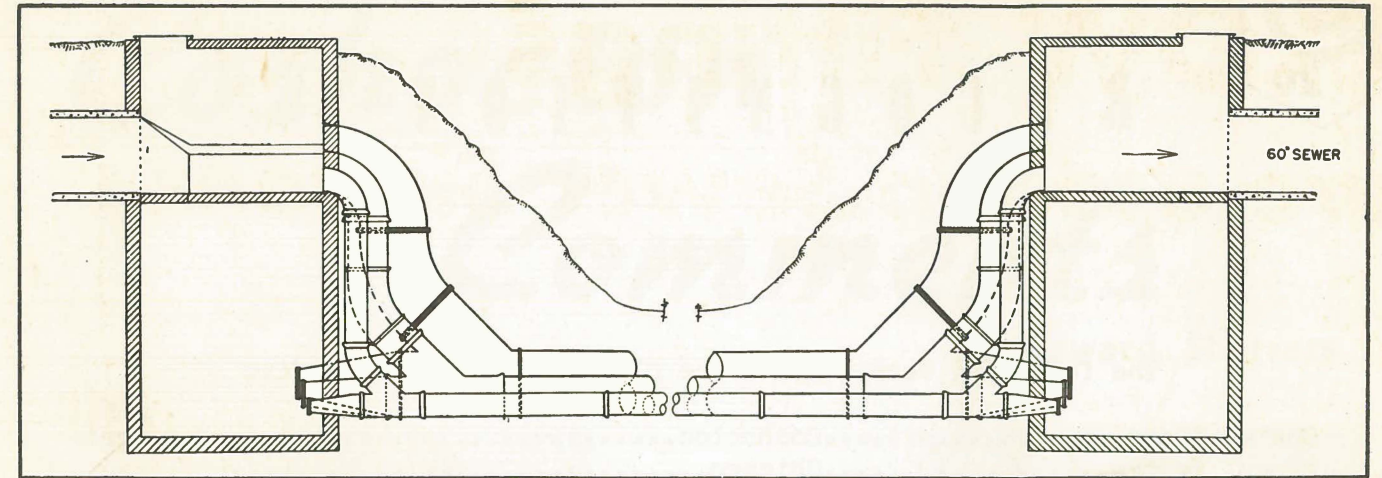

CLOW cast iron fittings in sizes 16, 30 and 48-inch were used in the construction of a sewer siphon at the intersection of Wood Street and the Congress Street Expressway. This siphon is to carry the domestic sewage and storm water from the normal flow level downward and under the highway for a distance of 391 feet and bring it back up to the original flow level.

One of the 48-inch 45-degree elbows that was used in the construction of the sewer siphon.

At left, the 16-inch siphon and 30-inch have been completed. The men are breaking through the concrete junction box to make way for the 48-inch line which had not been installed at the time the photograph was taken.

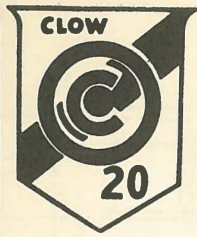

The diagram above shows the three inverted siphons that are to carry sewage and storm water under the Congress Street Expressway at Wood Street. A concrete junction box on both ends of the siphon lines are shown in the cross sectional view above. The junction box at left is the inlet box and it has two compartments, the upper one of which contains two weirs. One weir, extending 2.52 feet above the chamber floor, directs all normal flow through the 16-inch siphon. If the flow exceeds 2.52 feet it overflows the first weir and the 30-inch siphon comes into action. These two siphons then carry the load until the depth rises to 3 feet and overflows the second weir. At this time the 48-inch siphon comes into use. The latter will occur only at times of heavy rainfall.

The lower compartments of the two junction boxes contain wye fittings which are connected to each of the siphons. Connecting each wye is a reducer which is capped by a flange at the small end. These flanges can be removed and the line can be rodded out or flushed with a hose in the event that there is a stoppage.

This method of relocating sewers to accommodate new construction is common practice in Chicago. There are many such siphons in use today, that have already been in use for a number of years and many of these can be found under the river some 80 to 90 feet below the ground line.

A view looking east toward Chicago's "Loop" shows excavation that has been done for new expressway.

SUGGESTION WINNERS

L. F. Potter, (above left) of Maintenance and Lorenza B. Fowler of the Core Floor cashed in on three ideas under the Clow Suggestion System. Mr. Potter's winnings had to do with the use of a boomer jack in opening doors on railway sand cars, and for which he was presented with a $5.00 check. Lorenza came through with two suggestions this time and hit the system for $20.00. A new method of mixing core paste with compressed air and a structural change aiding the Core Floor black sand plant were responsible for the extra cash.

Paul Gardner, (above right) of Maintenance was also in the award bracket this time for $5.00, in originating a measuring jig for the cut-off saw in Cement Line.

CHEST DRIVE Thomas A. Ripley, Plant Manager, performed a splendid job in heading the manufacturer's and corporations' division in the Coshocton County Community Chest campaign September 21 through September 28.

Following the seventy-fifth Anniversary issue of the Clow News, with the Coshocton section ably written and edited by Plant Manager Tom Ripley, we are back on the job trying to bring you happenings and events on the local stand.

Much news has transpired since the August copy and we have tried to record all of interest.

We haven't been riding with the top down but it does seem events are taking place very fast so we would like to remind you again that if you have failed to notify "The News" of some event, and we have failed to pick it up via other means, we plan on other issues and it's not too late.

Certainly not meaning to slight anyone, it is hoped that you have noticed our staying away from fish stories, tall sunflowers, vacations, and new automobiles. It's not that such items are not newsworthy, but that the competition soon becomes too keen.

HAVE A DRINK

A never ending list of compliments and appreciation is passed upon our new Main Office and even though the institution is a year old, the people who occupy and use the facilities have not lessened in their thanks for a new and wonderful building.

Included in the equipment and furnishings of this modern plant is, of course, the very latest type of electric cooler drinking fountain, one located conveniently on each floor.

POLITICAL CANDIDATE

With the listing of six Clow employees seeking public office in the News some time ago we were satisfied that the next story in this field would be the announcement of the successful candidates this fall.

Now, verifying the uncertainty of politics, we are happy to announce the democratic candidacy of Henry C. Bundendorf, assistant production manager, for president of City Council.

The change in prospects for this post came about when the original party nominee, Donald E. Johnson, moved from the city, and Hank announced his availability.

This Clow employee is a newcomer in politics and has determined to make a real try for the post. He is 27 years of age, and

Proving there is no such thing as too many cooks spoiling the broth, Nellie Neldon, Alta Strauss and Hazel Carter of our restaurant show how it's done.

OUR 75th YEAR

A celebration of seventy-five years of James B. Clow & Sons was held at the Coshocton plant September 3, with Open House.

Nearly 600 guests were present and toured the plant and grounds, and while this figure does not nearly represent the number of people expected, account must be made for 106 degree temperature suffered on that day.

Compliment has been passed by Plant Manager Tom Ripley to all employees for their part in the Open House, and Mention was made of the courteous manner in which the visitors were entertained.

Regardless of the terrific heat our Open House was successful and we are always happy to have our families and townspeople visit us.

Official photographs will appear in a coming issue of the Clow News.

THANKS

the second floor is such a fountain, however, with what might be determined as excessive use, the foot pedal has become worn and out of adjustment so that when one approaches and merely touches the release a stream of water almost reaches the ceiling unless the customer is in the right position to stop it. Almost everyone has had such an experience at one time or another and no doubt such a happening has prompted a member of the Engineering Department, Bob Holehouse, to tag and label this drinking fountain, Old Face-Full.

IOWA items

by Fred Gegner

The fall season brings to a close the many wonderful outdoor activities of the summer season. The Iowa golf tournament, played during July and August, was enjoyed by sixteen contestants and was played on a match-play basis with handicaps. The competitive spirit was great and some large galleries watched the golfers make their good and bad shots (lots o' bad ones).

Tom Voss bested the field to become the Iowa golf champion and Jack Davis was awarded second place when he lost to Voss in the finals. Fred Gegner gained third place by winning from Iola Vanderwall.

Another summer event at Iowa was the Safety Picnic which was held at Lake Keomah State Park on August 22nd. Lake Keomah is six miles east of Oskaloosa and is a recreation center for the surrounding community. The lake has facilities for swimming, fishing, boating, and picnicking.

The picnic officially opened at 10:30 a.m. with an early attendance drawing.

"Jess" Hooten busy with his duties as "Disc Jockey" at the Safety Picnic.

Con Coupland, master of ceremonies, gave a short orientation address and welcomed all Iowa employees and their families. There was varied entertainment for all the children and adults, with a candy hunt one of the early contests for the children. Lollypops were hidden on the picnic grounds, and prizes were awarded to the boy and girl that found the most. Additional prizes were awarded for specially-wrapped lollypops.

The bingo game was popular with those who declined to partake in the more active contests. A chance to win cautioned the players to carefully watch their cards.

The balloon races for the children were won by Shirley Skeels and Ken Brummel. Shirley received a swimming mask and Ken was awarded a camp knife.

Between contests, the boys and girls took rides on the "Big Bronco" - a coin-operated pony, but the biggest thrill for them was a ride on the "Buggy Train." The "Buggy Train" consists of six one-horse buggies and a chuck wagon fastened together with trailer hitches and pulled by an automobile.

The wagon train was secured from Mr. Earl Wilson of New Sharon, Iowa, who is the engineer of the train and has used it for many special occasions in the surrounding cities and towns.

Jack Suiter lines up a long...long... long putt from the edge of the green.

The fresh air and exercise made many picnickers hungry, so at 12 noon dinner was served. Everyone enjoyed the meal, which consisted of baked ham, baked beans, potato salad, fresh tomatoes, pop, ice cream and cake.

After dinner, there was a contest at the bathing beach where the women threw a ball into the small bucket. They were rewarded with prizes for their efforts.

The many tugs-o'-war for the children furnished amusement for both young and old. However, the highlight of the beach entertainment was the paddle race for the men. Two men in each row boat used oars as paddles, and attempted to move their boat, canoe fashion, across the lake, around a balloon buoy and back to the dock. This race gave many laughs as the boats collided and always seemed to move in an unwanted direction. Dave Van Haften and Ralph Hite won the race in a close finish with Ronnie Showman and Kenneth Guthrie. The winners were each awarded a carton of cigarettes to help them develop more lung capacity for future races.

At the final assembly, prizes were given for various events which started before the official picnic time.

Floyd McCall won a minnow bucket for the largest fish caught (a 9" crappie).

Con Coupland tapped the ball just a little too hard and it went past the cup. Iola Vanderwall seems relaxed and pleased because her 20-foot putt went in.

Olaf Maughan won the "de-liar" fish scale for the largest string of fish. Olaf had a string of six fish.

Tom Jones and Harold Sellars each received cigarette lighters for winning the horseshoe tournament. Kenneth Guthrie and Charles Lanphier received spotlights for the runner-up spot in the horseshoe tournament.

Fred Gegner won six golf balls for low score in the golf tournament, and "Buck" Fortney received a package of golf tees for the highest score.

Earl McDonough and friends seem pleased with their string of 82 fish. The fish were caught in Lake Darling, an artificial lake, approximately 48 miles southeast of Oskaloosa. The catch includes 80 bullheads and a couple of crappie. The 80 bullheads weighed 79-lbs. The fishermen are Cecil Davis, Frank Polka, Eddie Davis, and Earl McDonough.

Everyone "went his way" in the paddle race at the picnic.

The final attendance drawings were held at the picnic area. Dick Langstraat won a "Westinghouse" portable radio and "Toodie" Van Haaften won the lightweight, two-gallon thermos jug. Mrs. Don Allgood won an electric roaster.

The picnic was officially closed at 3:30 p.m., and the weary, but happy, group started home.

SCHOOL

The fall season also brought school days for most of the youngsters, and the close of the "Little League" baseball season.

The Iowa Valve team coasted to the 1953 championship with an impressive record of 14 wins and 4 losses. In addition, the Iowa Valve team had the only shut-out game of the season when they won 1-0 over the Lions. Hats off to George Olive and Bob Crosson for a well-managed "Little League" season.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Beadle have a new daughter, Barbara Jean Beadle, who was born on September 4, 1953.

40 YEARS OF SERVICE

Mike Catallo, Casting Expediter for the Machine Shop, received his forty year pin in September. Mike's long career started back in 1913 when he was a laborer for Eddy. It was in 1945 that he became Casting Expediter. Mike's knowledge of valve castings is something to marvel about - one glance at a casting and he can tell you exactly what the part is used for. Congratulations Mike on your 40th year.

PROMOTIONS

Leon Nielsen, a machinist in the Brass Room since May 16, 1950 was promoted to Brass Room foreman. He replaced Free Benjamin, who took over the duties as Machine Shop Superintendent and will be in charge of all machine operations, of castings used for valves and hydrants.

Frank Gallery is our foreman in charge of all valve assembly, testing, repairing and painting.

Congratulations men!

RETIREMENTS

September fourth Jean Melanson of our Purchasing Dept. turned over her pen and pencil to Alice Borden and joined the ranks of our retired people. Jean, for the past few years, has been the voice of the Eddy Valve switch board. During this time she had become a friend of every employee in the shop by receiving and delivering emergency phone calls for the men.

A few days before Jean retired a dinner was held in her honor at the Mansion House in Waterford. At this time the office personnel presented her with a baby carriage and a high chair.

We wish Jean the best of luck and happiness in her new career, as a mother to her first child.

A PACKAGE FROM HOME

Bill Norton of the Maintenance gang brought in a letter received from his next door neighbor. It was written by Jim MacGraw to his mother. Jim is in the army and is stationed at Guam. He wrote that they work eight hours and that the hardest part of the job is handling 250 to 950 pound valves that are made at Eddy.

Jim neglected to mention what kind of service the valves are giving the Army, so we can assume that if they weren't giving good service he would have mentioned it.

LITTLE LEAGUE BASEBALL

We would like to take this opportunity to thank the Company for sponsoring a Clow team in the Cy Young Little League this season. It was money well spent and our team was one to be proud of in this first season of Little League Baseball in Newcomerstown. There were four teams in the league this year, but because of the interest demonstrated by the youngsters and fans six teams are being planned for next season. Our Clow team wound up the regular season in a tie for first place and was beaten in a play-off game by the B.P.W. They advanced to the finals of the series play-offs and were again beaten by the B.P.W. This time in a 2 out of 3 game play-off, with Clow winning the second game.

In making up the Little League teams, the names of all the pitchers, catchers, infielders and outfielders were placed in hats and then the managers of the various teams drew players names. It is interesting to note that four of our employees had a boy playing regular on the Clow team. Terry Wise, son of Lorin "Red" Wise, Maintenance, played 1st base and pitched. Junior Williams, adopted son of Howard Little, Foundry Finish, did the catching. Emmett Hart's boy, Leonhard, played shortstop and Glenn Shaw's son, Kenneth, played second base. Emmett and Glenn both work in our Gasteam Assembly.

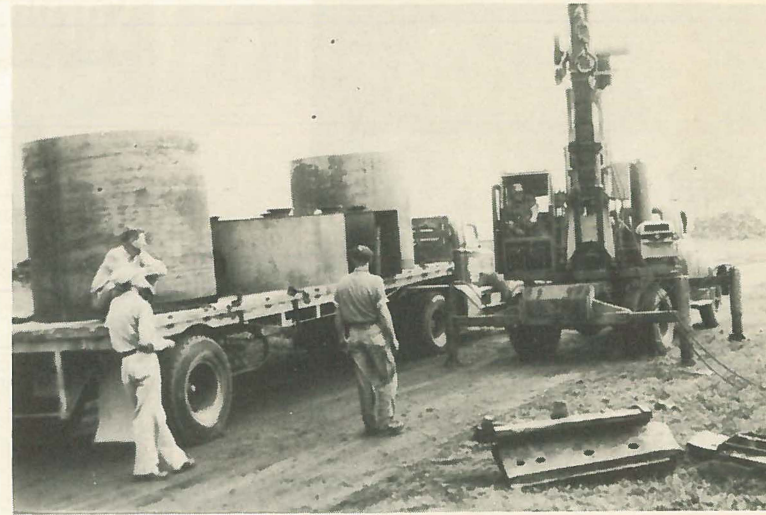

The company had pictures taken of the team and these will be distributed to the players. A banquet is also being planned in the near future for members of the team and their parents.

NEW CUPOLA INSTALLED

Some said it couldn't be done in 3 or 4 weeks, others said it had to be done in 2 weeks and that it would be done. The new cupola which was installed the 2nd and 3rd weeks of August is a 72-inch cupola. It was designed by Sam Clow and C. R. Crater from data evolved through experiments in connection with the G.I.R.I. It was fabricated by the Joseph T. Ryerson and Sons of Cleveland, Ohio and the Dover Tank and Plate Company of Dover, Ohio. All cast iron castings needed for the job were cast by the Coshocton and Newcomerstown Plants.

The cupola arrived in six sections aboard two large trucks. It was prefitted up in the yard and all cast iron castings were machined and prefitted prior to the shutdown. On Saturday morning, August 8th a crew of men from Maintenance and Yard Departments started tearing down the old cupola. By working two 8 hour shifts the old cupola was completely torn down and moved out by Sunday night, August 9th. The same two crews started erecting the new cupola the following morning. One week later they were so well along that the manpower was reduced to one 8 hour shift with part of the Maintenance and Yard gangs being put on other repair jobs. By Wednesday, August 19th, the new cupola was ready for lining. Bob Robinson and his Cupola gang had it lined by Friday August 21st, and it was allowed to dry out over Saturday and Sunday. It was ready to go Monday, August 24th, as scheduled.

FIRE STRIKES

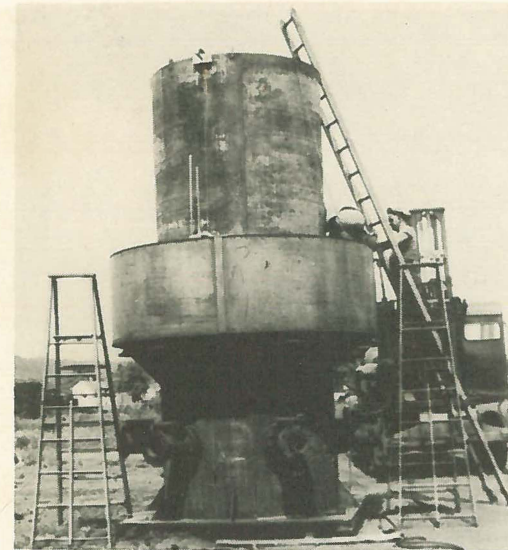

The tragedy of fire struck the family of Robert Ohler, Foundry Shakeout, on the afternoon of September 5th. The house which was not owned by the Ohlers was burned to the ground and its entire contents completely destroyed. Mr. Ohler and his children were visiting Mrs. Ohler who was in the hospital at the time of the fire. When they returned to their home on R.D. #1 Port Washington, the place was in ashes.

Such a loss as this, regardless of insurance, is severe and will not be easily recovered.

Upon hearing of this disaster, a fund was

The melting section and windbox were moved in through the side of the cupola building while the remaining sections were lowered through the roof for assembling. The welding was done by the Davis Welding Company of Urichsville, Ohio with the assistance of our own welders.

Charles R. Crater, our Chief Engineer, Elmer Wise's Maintenance gang and Willard Chaney's Yard Gang are to be congratulated on a job well done.

Charles Berkshire and Bob Renner help prefit the sections.

started by Bob's fellow foundry employees with each one helping out as they could. Other employees wanted to give also, so the fund was extended plant wide and before long a nice amount was turned over to Bob. We realize that this is a small token compared to the loss of furniture and clothing, but we hope that it will relieve some of the strain and hardships which a family must go through when a tragedy of this nature strikes.

Joe Cicero, leaving the office rather hurriedly one evening, grabbed for his coat at the rack and proceeded on his way to Ed Detmer's car. The well known Pontiac
