This obituary reported Saturday, May 2, 1885 in the Coshocton Age newspaper reads:

&quot;Mrs. Mary Randles, for 80 years a resident of Jackson township, died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Polly Tubbs in Roscoe, Tuesday night of last week, aged 86 years. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. S.R. Clark and her remains were interred in the Old Roscoe Cemetery&quot;.

The above quote, is the entire obituary.

My notes* Mary, was the wife of Isaac Randles Sr. They were married on August 18, 1819 in Cadiz, Harrison County, Ohio. Mary was the daughter of Sarah (Mansfield) and Nathaniel Chaney and she was the sister of Abraham Randles Sr's wife Elizabeth.

The daughter in the obituary notice; Mrs. Mary "Polly" (Seth) Tubbs, was born about 1833. The house she was living in was next door to her Uncle John Randles, on the street, several houses away from the cemetery.

The Chaney's are rumored to have been Native American and if they were in Jackson Township in 1805, this would be so, as that's the only population there! Interesting fact: Near that time Coshocton was known as the Delaware Indian Capitol of United States.

The Chaney family often traveled back and forth between Harrison County and Coshocton County, as did the Randles & Fivecoat families,

On June 9, 2009, Larry Dean, his wife Sheila and myself proceeded to find the tombstone of Mary. Although, I had found the stone and subsequently the obituary many years previous, I could not find it again. With great joy, Larry spotted it. Mary is his gr gr gr grandmother. We both took a picture of the tombstone. It is very weathered and we could not make out the day she was born!

The will of Issac Randles, Mary's husband, was probated April 4, 1842 in Coshocton County, Ohio.

We do not know when or how he came to America.*

Peter enlisted in the Continental Army in 1777 under Captain John Lewis and Colonel Henias Morgan of the 2nd VA Regiment. (Service No.W 7412). In 1778, he reenlisted at Petersburg, VA, under Captain Campbell and Colonel Lewis Gibson of the 9th VA Regiment. In total, he served three years against the Indians and the British and was discharged at Wheeling, VA (WV) in 1781.

In late 1780, the Indians were on the warpath near the present site of Clarksburg, WV. The Adam O&#039;Brien family had taken refuge at Fort Richards, about ten miles upstream from Clarksburg on the West Fork of the Monongalia River. Christina O&#039;Brien met Peter McCune, who was a guard at the Fort, and they were married by a Baptist minister named Edwards January 13, 1781. Christina was 14 years of age and many years later, Elijah Runion was to give oath that he had witnessed the marriage of Peter McCune and that he had advised Christina to stuff handkerchiefs in her bosom to appear more mature. Christina died in Calhoun County WV in March 1879.

In 1778, Peter received 400 acres of land on Rooting Creek, Monongalia County VA (WV) in compensation for his military service. In 1810, Peter built the first cabin in Dekalb District, Gilmer County VA (WV) at the mouth of Leading Creek. By 1815, he had moved to the West Fork of the Little Kanawha River.

Peter McCune appeared in court in Lewis County, VA (WV) September 13, 1820 to give oath of his service in the Revolution and to give a schedule of his holdings. (Applicants for a Revolutionary War pension were required to list their property.) The court certified that Peter had property worth $67. He was awarded a pension of $8 per month, to begin August 3, 1818. After Peter's death on January 15, 1832, Christina applied for his pension. Elijah Runion and Adam Flesher appeared to testify that they had been present at the wedding of Peter and Christina. Christina further stated that Peter had served six months in the American Army during the War of 1812. She also stated that she and Peter were the parents of 10 children, six boys and four girls.

Wyss&lt;/a&gt;&lt;br&gt;Additional information: LifeSketch: This family history is from a collection of copied narratives and photos titled &quot;FROM THE ALPS TO THE DUST BOWL&quot; by Treva Reuszer Hancock, however the narratives may well have been written by several writers. (I would be happy to update attribution if anyone can provide it.)

The story comes from the section simply titled &quot;WYSS&quot; and the excerpt follows a narrative of the family's migration from Switzerland and eventual settlement in Moniteau County Missouri. It is as follows:

&quot;The story is told that the family home [Christian and Elizabeth Steiner Wyss's home] was pillaged by local sympathizers who took the treasured swords and epaulets that Christian Wyss had worn in the Swiss Army. Also, the Wyss brothers were cutting wheat on the family farm when a battle erupted near Boonville, about thirty miles away. The noise of battle and the cannons were easily heard. All were of age, and it appeared that it was only a question of time before they would be drafted into the armed service. Accordingly, they left the harvest field and enlisted in the cause of the Union.

&quot;John Wyss served three years in Home Guards. He then joined the First Regiment, Missouri Volunteer Infantry.

&quot;Fred [Wyss] was a First Infantry, M.S.M. volunteer, enlisting December 21, 1861 and mustered out December 29, 1864. Christian served three enlistments. His military records are unavailable to me [the writer] but he was fatally wounded in the Battle of Jefferson City. Two sisters, Mary Rentsch and Anna Eggiman were delegated by the family to go to Jeff City to claim the body. The only land transport available, other than the horse and wagon, was a freight train. They were given permission, as females, to ride the caboose of a Missouri Pacific freight train to Jeff City and return.&quot;

Until now, research had found almost no documentation about Christian Wyss's Civil War service or his death. Information about &quot;The Battle of Jefferson City&quot; was almost non-existent. Finally - never say there's no serendipity in genealogy research - I discovered the following article in a newspaper that was saved for another front page article about the death of another family member - &quot;F.P. Keil Killed At Tacoma, Wash.&quot; One day while going over the paper and reading all of the articles I was astonished to see the name of my Great Great Uncle Christian Wyss jump out, thereby, if Mr. Kirshman's account can be trusted and there's no reason to think otherwise, we have our answer to the Civil War death of Christian Wyss.

CALIFORNIA DEMOCRAT, California Missouri, Thursday, March 4, 1937 Vol 78, No. 29 "Fall Fatal to John Kirschman, Last of Civil War Veterans" paragraphs 5, 6, & 7

"In the summer of 1864, Mr. Kirschman enlisted with the Federal forces at Sedalia, along with twelve or fourteen other young men of his neighborhood about Prairie Home. The entire group went to Sedalia with a recruiting officer who visited their community.

"After about six weeks training at Sedalia, the Prairie Home boys went with their command to Jefferson City where a few days later they were under fire for the first time and where two of them were killed and others wounded.

"The engagement at Jefferson City came when Mr. Kirshman and a number of others were sent from their camp on the old fair grounds at Jefferson City as a scouting party to ascertain the whereabouts of some of the Confederate Troops of General Sterling Price. While going through some woods they were surprised by the Confederates who immediately opened fire. Conrad Dearing and Chris Wyss of Prairie Home were killed outright and Ferdinand Weber was so seriously wounded that he later died."

28. FAMILY TREES

Each family tree shows the reported children, parents, grandparents and great-grandparents of a family group. In order to reduce redundancy, any family group which is wholly included within another family tree may not be reported separately.

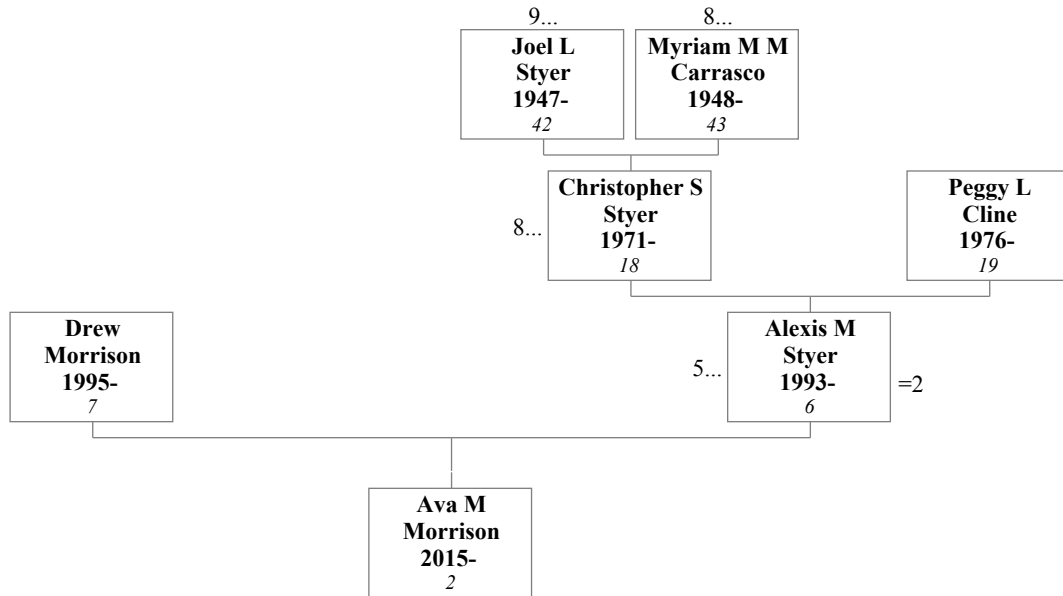

Above each of the great-grandparent boxes (top row), a continuation family tree reference number is shown if the great-grandparent is recorded as a child in the continuation tree. A continuation reference number is also shown to the left of a grandparent or parent box if that individual has siblings reported in the continuation tree; and beneath a child box (bottom row) if that individual has children reported in the continuation tree.

In cases of multiple marriages, a continuation reference number preceded by "=" is shown to the right of a parent box. This number references the previous and/or next tree in which that individual is shown with another partner.

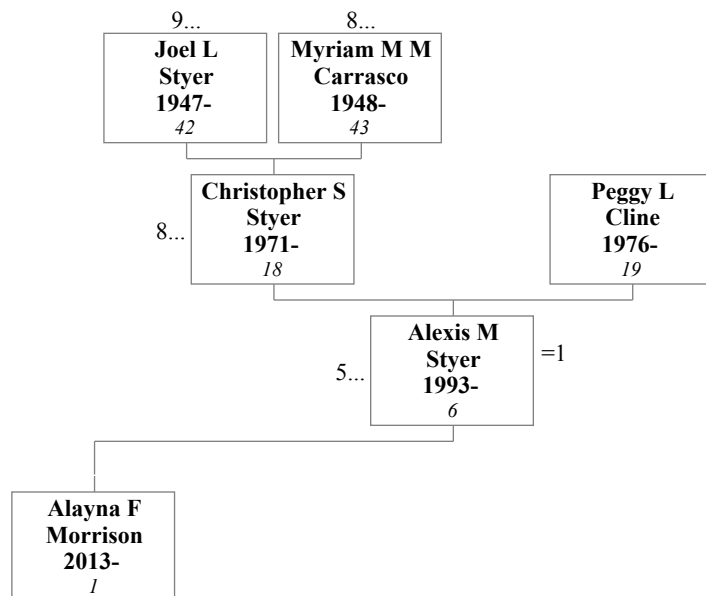

In cases of adopted (or fostered) children, the parental connection is shown with a dashed line and a continuation reference number preceded by "-" is shown within the individual's box. This number references the tree in which that individual is shown with his or her natural parents.

1. "1850 United States Federal Census" in "MyHeritage"
Federal census takers were asked to record information about every person who was in each household on the census day. A census taker might have visited a house on a later date, but the information he collected was supposed to be about the people who were in the house on the census day. The basic census enumeration unit was the county. Each county was divided into enumeration districts, one for each enumerator. The completed forms were sent to the Commerce Department's Census Office in Washington, D.C. Federal censuses are usually reliable, depending on the knowledge of the informant and the care of the census enumerator. Information may have been given to a census taker by any member of the family or by a neighbor. Some information may have been incorrect or deliberately falsified.

The 1870 Census was the first census to provide detailed information on the black population, only years after the culmination of the Civil War when slaves were granted freedom. The 1870 Census' population estimate is controversial, as many believed it underestimated the true population numbers, especially in New York and Pennsylvania. Non-organized Alaska was also enumerated, but the "Indian Territory" (now Oklahoma) was not enumerated for non-Indians. What can you find in the census? Census returns can help you determine who your ancestors were, and can also tell you:- Where your ancestors were living- Who they were living with- What their occupations were- If they had any servants- Who their neighbours were- If they had any brothers and sisters- What their ages were at the time of the census- If they had any disabilities. As well as giving you the above information, the fact that census returns are taken every ten years also allows you to track the movements of your ancestors through time as they perhaps move house, get married, have children or even change occupations. The fields which have been transcribed for the census are:- First name- Middle name- Last name- Sex- Birth place- Age- Place of residence- County- Relationship to head of household. Why this collection is so valuable. Census records are valuable since they can tell you where a person lived at a certain place and time. Censuses were conducted by the federal government and will offer a variety of information, depending on year. Census records can answer questions like where your ancestors were living at the time the census was taken, who they were living with, what their occupations were, who their neighbors were, if they had any brothers and sisters, what their ages were at the time of the census and if they had any disabilities. Searching the census. The golden rule of family history is to check the original historical record, or 'primary source', wherever possible. We have provided clear images of the original census enumeration books for you to view once you've found the right family in the indexes. When using census returns you should first search the transcriptions to help locate your ancestor in the census, and then view the original images to validate your findings. It will also help you see the household in the context of surrounding households. This is particularly important as transcribing an entire census is a huge and difficult task, and whilst we have used the expertise of our transcribers and the experience of key representatives from the genealogy community to help us translate the records, it is inevitable that there will be some errors. Next steps. With the information you gain from these census records, you will have the information you need to search for vital records in the locality where you found your ancestor. Also, the fact that census returns are taken every ten years also allows you to track the movements of our ancestors through time as they perhaps move house, get married, have children or even change occupations.

9. "1911 England &amp; Wales Census" in "MyHeritage"

What is in the 1911 census? In common with the censuses that preceded it, it recorded the following information:- Where an individual lived- Their age at the time of the census- Who (what relatives) they were living with- Their place of birth- Occupation- Details of any guests on the night of the census- Details of any servants they had Also, depending on an individual's circumstances, additional information could include:- Whether they were an employee or employer- Precise details of the industry or service they worked in- Details of nationality- Duration of their current marriage- Number of children born to that marriage- Number of children still living, and the number who had died- Details of any illnesses or conditions each family member had, and the date these began Fertility in marriage and occupational data In response to government concerns the 1911 census also asked additional, more specific questions to each household, about fertility in marriage and occupational data. The 1911 census and the suffragettes Frustrated with the government's refusal to grant women the vote, a large number of women boycotted the 1911 census by refusing to be counted. There were two forms of protest. In the first, the women (or their husbands) refused to fill in the form, often recording their protest on the household schedule. In the second, women evaded the census by staying away from their home for the whole night, and so did not lodge their protest on the household schedule. In both cases, any details relating to individual women in the households will be missing from the census. For the family historian, a refusal to fill in the form (accompanied by a protest statement) at least registers the presence of a woman, or women, in the household. But the women who evaded the count by leaving their home for the night are entirely untraceable via the census. The exact number of women who boycotted the census is not known, though some people have estimated that it may be as many as several thousand. The 1930 Census determined the population of the United States to be 122,775,046. This is an increase of almost 16 percent over the 1920 Census, which reported a population of 106,021,537. This was the 15th decennial census conducted in the United States under authority granted by Article I, Section 2 of the United States Constitution. It was conducted in April 1930, except in Alaska, where it was conducted in late 1929. Until 2012 the 1930 Census is the latest available to the public, due to 72-year privacy laws. It is based on actual counts of persons living in residential structures.

 We undertook the arduous task of deciphering the handwritten pages of the 1940 Census to create a searchable index for the census. This was accomplished gradually, state by state, as we covered more and more of the census. As required by the US Constitution, the census is a federal mandate to count every resident of the United States of America every 10 years. Census data is released to the public 72 years after it was taken. Federal census takers were asked to record information about every person who was in each household on the census day. 18. "England & Wales, Death Index, 1837-2005" in "MyHeritage"

Civil registration — the government recording of births, marriages, and deaths — began in England and Wales on 1 July 1837. Local registration districts had jurisdiction for recording civil events, but were required to send copies of their records each quarter to the General Register Office (GRO) in London. The GRO created indexes to these records which are organized by event, year, and quarter, and thereunder alphabetically by surname. Information included in the index changed over the years. The index always provides the name of deceased, registration district, and reference information (volume and page numbers). From 1866 to March 1969, the index also includes age. Beginning in June 1969 the index includes the deceased's birth date rather than age. Information provided in the index can be used to order a copy of the person's death certificate for a fee from the GRO through their Certificate Ordering Service. Depending on the year, full death certificates may provide: name of deceased, death date, death place, age, sex, occupation, cause of death, name of parent if the deceased is a child, informant's name, residence, and relationship to the deceased, and date of registration. Note: Information recorded on a death certificate is only as accurate as the knowledge of the person reporting it. It is important to pay attention to who the informant was and their relationship to the deceased. The closer the relationship, the more reliable the information likely is. For years where images of the index are available, be sure to consult the image to verify the information presented to you. Sometimes errors happen during the transcription process. For example, a "5" may have inadvertently been transcribed as a "3". Since there is a fee for ordering certificate copies from the GRO, it is especially important to make sure all reference numbers are correct before placing an order. Search tip: If an individual had multiple given names, sometimes only one or two of these names was recorded in the index. In addition, some of the given names may have been recorded by initials only. If you're having trouble locating someone in the index, try searching by any of the individual's known given names, initials, or nicknames.

19. "Everton Pedigree and Family Group Sheets" in "MyHeritage"

Started during the Mar-Apr 1979 issue of Everton's Genealogical Helper, the information was originally gathered through user-generated submission via advertisement in Everton's Genealogical Helper, this collection displays the archival efforts of thousands of genealogical enthusiasts, all who are trying to connect with their relatives across time and space. The records within this collection may not be up-to-date to present day research, but they are believed to be up-to-date as of the date of reception of the individual record. All records have this date stamped on them. Many of the pedigree charts and family group sheets contain documentations and sources, although others simply cite the information collector, or the person who is sending in the material. Pedigree charts and family group sheets within this collection range in date from fourteen and fifteenth centuries (information on the charts, not the charts themselves) to the present.

32. "Missouri Death Certificates, 1910 - 1960" in "MyHeritage"
Death certificates represent one of the key primary sources for family information, typically being issued within days of a death and having many details about a persons' life. Frequently, they contain age, birthplace, parents' names and birthplaces and the cause of death.
Citations: Charles C Wyss<sup>679</sup>.
33. "Ohio Newspapers, 1793-2009" in "MyHeritage"
Before vital records were recorded by city, county, or state governments, local newspapers often published articles listing or detailing these events. Obituaries contain vital and biographical information on the decedent but also on his or her family and relatives. Society pages began as a way to entice readers with gossip and news about the wealthy and famous but soon evolved to cover the goings-on of "average" citizens. An incredible array of information can be discovered in these society pages or sections from seemingly mundane notices and reports on events such as parties, job changes, hospital stays, and social visits by friends or relatives. These pages are a source of historical events that are unlikely to exist in any other record. Coverage and completeness in this collection varies by title.
34. "Ohio, Marriages, 1970 - 2003" in "MyHeritage"
In addition to the genealogical information this index provides about the marriage, these records can be useful in requesting the original marriage licenses from which this index is derived. Additional information is usually available on the original documents and may list the bride's and groom's birthplace and the names and birthplaces of their parents. To obtain copies of marriage certificates you can write to the Probate Court in the county where the marriage occurred. A list of the counties and the addresses to write to is available on the Ohio Department of Health website.

Begun in 1935 by the Social Security Act signed into law by FDR, more than thirty million Americans were registered for the economic security sanctions by 1937. From 1937 to 1940, payments were made in one-lump sums amounts with the first amount being seventeen cents. Following amendments in 1939, the payments turned into monthly benefits and increased. Following further amendments in 1950, cost-of-living increases were awarded to those who were receiving benefits. From 1950 to the present, benefits have increased yearly in response to inflation concerning the costs of living.

40. "United States World War I Draft Registrations, 1917-1918" in "MyHeritage"
When the United States declared war on the German Empire on April 6, 1917 its standing army was comprised of approximately 100,000 men with another 115,000 in National Guard units. President Wilson immediately directed the Department of War to work to increase the army to a one million-man force. However, six weeks after war was declared only 73,000 new recruits had volunteered for military service. Military planners and political leaders had correctly anticipated the general apathy in the nation for the war effort at its onset and almost as soon as war was declared work began in the US Congress to enact updated conscription legislation. Congress passed the Selective Service Act on May 18, 1917. This act authorized the federal government to raise a national army through compulsory enlistment. The initial Selective Service Act required all men aged 21 to 30 to register. In August 1918, at the request of the War Department, Congress amended the law to expand the age range to include all men aged 18 to 45. Three specific registrations were conducted:

* June 5, 1917. This first registration was for all men between the ages of 21 and 31.

* June 5, 1918. The second registration was for those who had turned 21 after June 5, 1917 and a supplemental registration included in the second registration was held on August 24, 1918, for those who turned 21 years old after June 5, 1918.

* September 12, 1918. The third, and final registration was for all men aged 18 through 45 not previously enrolled.

By the end of the First World War, some 2 million men had volunteered for military service and 2.8 million other men had been drafted. Accordingly, a draft registration does not imply that the individual ended up being drafted or that he didn't volunteer separately. The handwriting on the card is normally that of a registration board worker usually labeled the "registrar". However, almost all cards contain the signature or "mark" in the handwriting of the registrant himself.
