Letter to the reader

May 18, 1999

Dear Reader,

I would like to thank-you for your interest in my family. It is my hope that you will find some useful information and possibly find that you or one of your relatives is listed among the pages of this book. When I first started my research, my interest was in the American Civil War. As I sat and talked with one of my elderly aunts, she relayed the story of my great-great-grandfather and his participation in the Civil War. Like so many family histories, all she had was a name and a brief description of how he died. Thanks to the National Archives and the University of Pennsylvania, my wife Marianne and I were able to find his military muster in records. From that point on, my interest spread to other members of my ancestral family. As they say, "The rest is history." Literally.

Over the years, I have found other members of the family, mostly cousins doing research along the same line. These family surnames include Lockart, Gott, Eline and Davis to mention a few. Although the title of the book is Descendants of George and Ellen Dakin, I actually have little history on these two ancestors. I do know that George Dakin was an English born American emigrant who married Ellen. I found this in census records for Allegheny County Pennsylvania. I know that Ellen was born in Maryland and that she and George had two sons, John and William, who were born in Allegheny Pennsylvania. I know that George had two businesses in Allegheny, where his sons, no doubt, labored along side him to support the family. Naturally my interest is in William since he was a Civil War era soldier. I am not sure of how John may have lived his life but will continue to research him and his father George and mother Ellen. As you will see through the generations, George, John and William became popular names for son of the Dakin family. Although I live in Newcomertown Ohio, most of the time and lives of my previous two generations were spent in West County West Virginia. Once again thank-you for your interest in my family and may god bless you and your family.

Dedication

This book is dedicated to the memory of Lena Geraldine Dakin Tanner. To our dear aunt who loved and was concerned for every member of our family, be they brothers, sisters, nephews, nieces or cousins. To aunt Lena, who beamed with pride at the news of a new family member. To aunt Lena, who grew older and wiser as I only grew up. To aunt Lena, who could recite every family member and their relationship to me. To aunt Lena, who helped me understand my parents and grandparent's lives and struggles. To aunt Lena, who encouraged me and helped answer all my questions about our family. To aunt Lena, who taught me that nothing on earth is as important as family. To Aunt Lena, through whose eyes I have seen and understand my ancestors.

Lena G. Dakin Tanner (1905-1995)

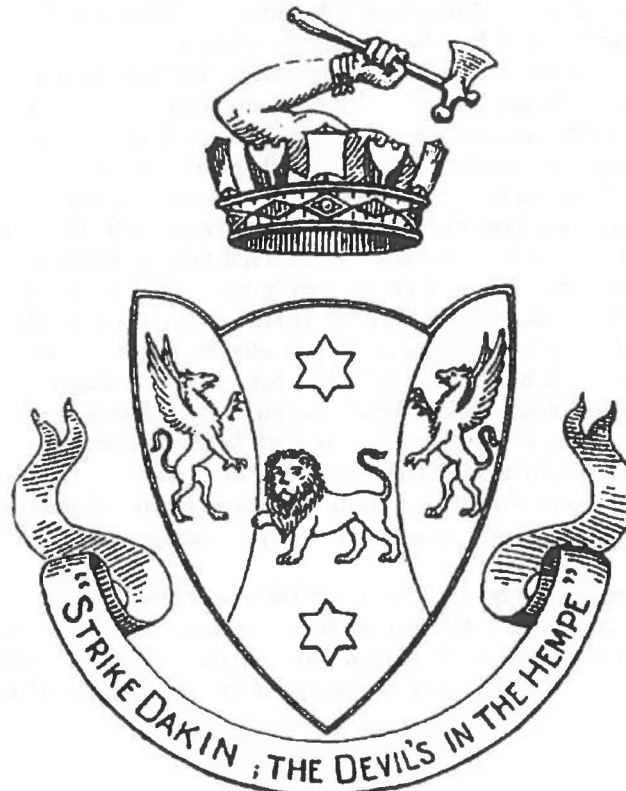

A daughter of Wirt County West Virginia

Gone but not forgotten

The Dakin Coat of Arms as described in Burke's General Armory is as follows: GU, A lion pass. guard betw. two mallets in a pale or and as many flaunches ar. charged with a lion ramp sa. When translated the blazon also describes the original colors of THE DAKIN ARMS AS: Red: A gold lion attacking above the shield and helmet is the crest which is described as: A right arm bent, issuing out of a gold crown, holding a silver battle-ax on the wrist a blue ribbon.

The Dakin motto is "Strike Dakin, the devil is in the Hemp." This motto has two recorded explanations of origin. The first story relates to a sailor in her majesty's navy. A sailor baring the name Dakin was aboard a ship that was set upon by pirates on the high seas. A popular method employed by pirates to board and cease ships was to attach a grappling hook to the stern of the ship being attacked. The pirates then pulled the ships together allowing the buccaneers to swing aboard or jump from one ship to the other. When the pirates set upon Dakin's ship, the sailor crawled to the side of the rail with an ax in hand and began cutting the rope before the pirates could pull the two ships together. As sailor Dakin swung the ax to cut the rope, his shipmates screamed the words; "Strike Dakin, the; devil is in the hemp." Hemp is the plant grown to make rope.

The second story relates to a wealthy English farmer. Farmer Dakin grew hemp used in the manufacture of rope and was quite well known about the English village near his farm. It seems that Dakin spent many a late night in the local pubs of the village. His late night returns to home do not escape the eye of local highwaymen, who also frequented the pubs. The highwaymen to relieve Dakin of money, hatched a plot. The highwaymen planned to hide in the hemp fields lining the roads between the village and the Dakin farm and pounce upon Dakin during one of his late night returns to home. This plot came to the attention of one of the pub owners who knew farmer Dakin well. The pub owner related the story to Dakin and in turn, the farmer hired several of the village men to accompany him to the hemp fields and set upon the highwaymen before they could attack. As Dakin walked with his men, a scout came up the road and pointed to the location of the highwaymen hiding in the hemp field, the scout's next words to the farmer was; "Strike Dakin, the devil is in the hemp." A picture of the Dakin Coat of Arms is included in this booklet.

A Story of Union Army Private William Dakin of Company G, 6th West Virginia Infantry Volunteers

William Dakin was the son of English born immigrant George Dakin. His mother Ellen Dakin was an American born in Maryland. William was born in Allegheny County Pennsylvania. In 1850 at age 14, William and his 16 year old brother John, worked in their father George's box manufacturing business at 27 Cherry alley in Pittsburgh. By 1852, the family business was a carpentry shop located on Liberty Street. Sometime after this, the family left Pittsburgh and headed west. William ended up in a part of Wood County, which is Wirt County West Virginia today. By this time he was a farmer in the fertile Kanawha Valley. In his early 20's, he married and fathered a baby girl (Nancy Belle). At age 23, he joined the Union Army as a Private and during this enlistment, he fathered a baby boy (George W.). The enrollment papers of William Dakin describe him as being 5 ft 9 inches tall, light complexion and blue eyes.

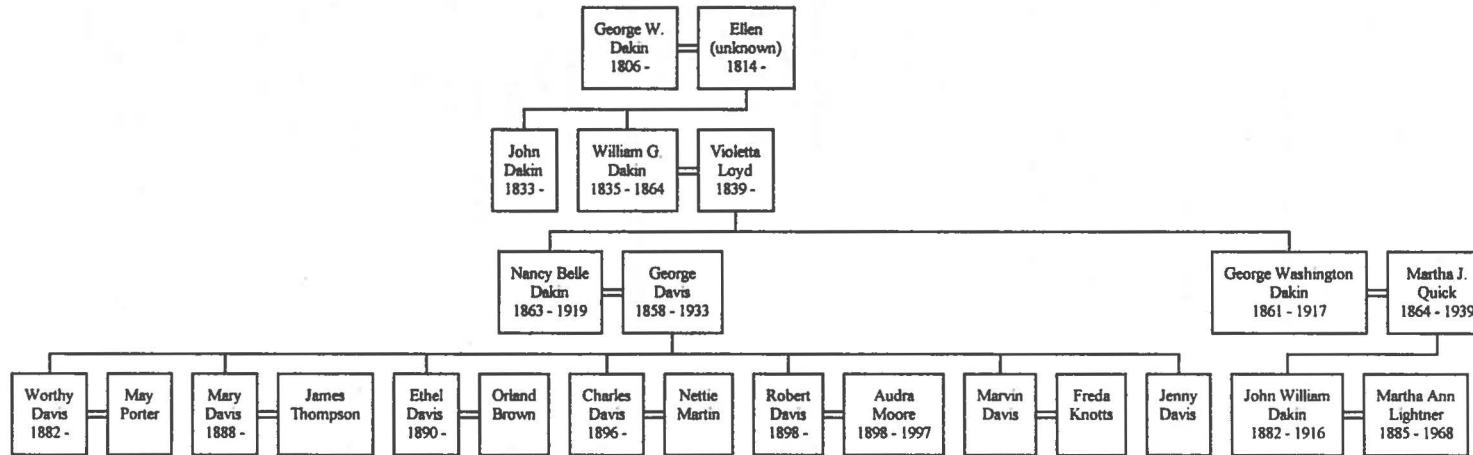

On October 31st, he mustered into service at Parkersburg West Virginia under the command of Captain William Mattingly. Private Dakin was a member of company G, 6th West Virginia volunteers. This regiment was organized with 14 companies formed with 100 men each with the expressed purpose of railroad guard duty. These men served on line of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad by detachments. On the 13th of July 1864, Private Dakin was returning from what we believe to be Webbs Mills Virginia where he was guarding prisoners. The war was all but over in the northern part of Virginia and West Virginia. The soldiers guarding the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad were at ease. As the train William Dakin was riding moved north from New Creek West Virginia toward Cumberland Maryland, the private became a victim of an accident. Dakin's records show that he was not killed in battle nor died of disease. The accident that took his life was ironically caused by the train cars he was guarding. The listing on his discharge papers state "Died near Cumberland Maryland 13 July, 1864 by reason of accidentally falling off of cars." The 6th West Virginia lost 8 Enlisted men killed and mortally wounded and 2 officers and 167 enlisted men by disease. Total of 177. William G. Dakin is buried in grave 2761, section 4 (W.Va.) of Antietam National Cemetery, Sharpsburg Maryland. You can see a photo of William G. Dakin headstone in this book.

Statistics and other information relevant to Co. G 6th West Virginia Infantry Volunteers. The mode age (majority of soldiers age) in Co. G. was 18 years. The youngest soldier was 17 years of age and the oldest was 49. The median age of the soldier in Co. G. was 33 years and the mean age was 26 years. The soldier's age ranged 32 years. Nearly a quarter of the soldiers were 18 years of age and 62% of the company was 26 years of age or younger. From what I have read, this is a typical age distribution for civil war era soldiers. Quite different from more recent wars when the 18 and 19 year old men made up the bulk of the fighting force. Muster in records show that 70% of the company came from Parkersburg W.Va. (Wood County and surrounding area.) 12% from Clarksburg, 7% came from Wheeling, 7% came from Grafton, 3% from West Union, less than 1% each from Weston and New Salem.

The majority of Company G mustered in to service September 1861 and was mustered out of service upon expiration of their terms on October 13, 1864. The company re-organized after muster out of non - veterans December 30, 1864 and the company mustered out of service June 10, 1865. Other numbers of interest on the company include, three deaths by accident (William at New Creek and 2 other soldiers died in Parkersburg by accident), six deaths by disease, four soldiers disabled and sent home, one death of a soldier at home in Wood County and 8 deserters (almost a 5% desertion rate). This time frame was October 12, 1862 until March 16, 1865. As for the commanding officers, the oldest man in the company was the Captain. William H. Mattingly (aged 49 years) was apparently one of the four sent home as disabled. He was wounded in action at Bulltown on October 13, 1863. His command was succeeded by Captain John Drake (aged 33 years of West Union in Doddridge county) on what the records show as October 14, 1864. I question this and think it more likely he was succeeded October 14, 1864 or Captain Mattingly was injured on October 13, 1864. In any case, have a look at the succession of command on the dates in the table above. You may find the command changes interesting. Places of birth for the soldiers of Co. G. include Pennsylvania, Maryland, Ohio, Virginia (some later to become West Virginia), New York, Vermont, Missouri, and the countries of France, Germany, Ireland. Their professions included farmers, brick layers, masons, cabinet, makers, carpenters, cooks, stone cutters, sawyers, laborers and engineers.

The Civil War Medal pictured in this book was struck in 1866 and remained in the Charleston West Virginia archives until it was claimed in 1987. The medal was awarded to those brave West Virginians who fought and died to preserve the Union. This metal bares the name of William Dakin, Private of Co. G. 6th West Virginia Volunteers. As you have read in the pages of this book, William Dakin never lived to claim his medal.

Notes

William Dakin was the son of English born immigrant George Dakin. His mother Ellen Dakin was an American born in Maryland. William was born in Allegheny County Pennsylvania. In 1850 at age 14, William and his 16 year old brother John, worked in their father George's box manufacturing business at 27 Cherry alley in Pittsburgh. By 1852, the family business was a carpentry shop located on Liberty Street. Sometime after this, the family left Pittsburgh and headed west. William ended up in what is today (Wood County later Wirt County) West Virginia and by this time was a farmer in the fertile Kanawha Valley. In his early 20's, he married and had a female child. At age 23, he joined the Union Army as a Private. The enrollment papers of William Dakin describe him as being 5 ft 9 inches tall, light complexion and blue eyes. On October 31st, he mustered into service at Parkersburg West Virginia under the command of Captain William Mattingly. Private Dakin was a member of company G, 6th West Virginia volunteers. This regiment was organized with 14 companies formed with 100 men each with the expressed purpose of railroad guard duty. These men served on line of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad by detachments. On the 13th of July 1864, Private Dakin was returning from what we believe to be Webbs Mills Virginia where he was guarding prisoners. The war was all but over in the northern part of Virginia and West Virginia. The soldiers guarding the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad were at ease. As the train William Dakin was riding moved north from New Creek West Virginia toward Cumberland Maryland, the private became a victim of an accident. Dakin's records show that he was not killed in battle nor died of disease. The accident that took his life was ironically caused by the train cars he was guarding. The listing on his discharge papers state "Died near Cumberland Maryland 13 July, 1864 by reason of accidentally falling off of cars." The 6th West Virginia lost 8 Enlisted men killed and mortally wounded and 2 officers and 167 enlisted men by disease. Total of 177. William G. Dakin is buried in grave 2761, section 4 (W.VA.) of Antietam National Cemetery, Sharpsburg Maryland.
