Many of us old timers still have happy memories of time spent in the Luncheonette. Usually, those memories form around the lunch counter, booths and jukebox in the interior. But here is a captured moment of time that may help to refresh memories about the exterior of the building and surrounding Main Street.

GRANDMA SULTZER

20 Feb 1907

Passes Peacefully and Triumphantly
To a Haven of Rest.

At the close of a long, active, cheerful and well-spent life one is naturally inclined to think, "it is well; go up higher." Grandma Sultzer passed at her reward at 4 p. m. on Wednesday, Feb 13, with a sweet, happy smile on her face, as if God had kissed her spirit away and permitted her to have a glimpse of the "eternal weight of glory" that awaited her.

Elizabeth Richards was born at Cooks Mills, Maryland, March 10, 1814, and 7 years later she migrated with her parents to Ohio, locating at Flushing, Belmont county. At the age of 19 she married Joseph Sultzer, and to them 11 children were born, 6 of whom are living—W. B. of Sandusky, S. S. of Flushing, John of St. Louis, Jas. Sultzer and Mrs. Mary Wolfe of this city, and Mrs. Alice Gardner of Uhrichsville. There are also 17 grand children and 16 great grand children.

In 1868 Joseph Sultzer and family moved from Flushing to Newcomerstown, occupying the property at the rear of the high-school building, in which Grandma Sultzer lived and died. Mr. Sultzer, tailor by trade, occupied rooms directly over what is now the office and dining-room of the Central Hotel, the lower rooms then being occupied by Dryden & Ayers' goods company. Grandpa Sultzer died about 28 years ago and Grandma Sultzer is the first one to die in the family since his demise, and both lay side by side in the cemetery on the east side of town.

Grandma Sultzer united with the M. E. church when quite young and exemplified the principles of her religion in every-day life. She was dearly loved by her children, grand and great-grand children because of her piety, amiability and cheerfulness, and was esteemed by all who knew her. The funeral services were held at the M. E. church last Friday afternoon conducted by Pastor C. W. Harshman, appropriate music being provided by the church choir. The floral offerings were beautiful and suggestive, and expressed feelings of highest regard and deepest sympathy.

DIES AT INDIANA, PA.

Mrs. Lizzie O. Guthrie, who was 73 years old last June, died at the home of her son, W. E. Guthrie, auditor of the B. R. & P. coal and iron company of Indiana, Pa., last Sunday, and was buried Tuesday afternoon at Summerville, Pa. Her husband died 7 years ago from the effects of a fall from a step-ladder. The lady is survived by three sons—J. A. Guthrie, proprietor of Central Hotel, this city; W. E. of Indiana, Pa., and L. L. Guthrie, dist. mg'r for the Royal baking powder company for central Pennsylvania, with residence at Reynoldsville, Pa. A few hours after Mr. Guthrie received the message announcing the death of his mother, he received a telegram stating that his wife's mother was in a dying condition at Hamilton, Pa.

The pictures of parade floats on page 2 Section C are believed to have been taken at the Clow opening also.

Carrie Nation Visits Saloon, Says 'Repent'

Have you heard about the "you put out my fire and I'll put out your fire" law that once prevailed in Newcomerstown? Or about the night Carrie Nation ruined Sam Douglas' saloon?

These are some of the interesting tales of the Good Old Says which David B. Moore of Newcomerstown has gathered together in a little booklet called "My Home Town Gekele-mukpechunk."

The unwritten fire law sprung from an incident when a hotel owner didn't take his place in the bucket brigade when a shack near the canal burned.

He told other fire-fighters that it wasn't his building so why should he care if it burned. A few months later the hotel kitchen caught fire and remembrances are that not too many people turned out to assist in squelching the blaze.

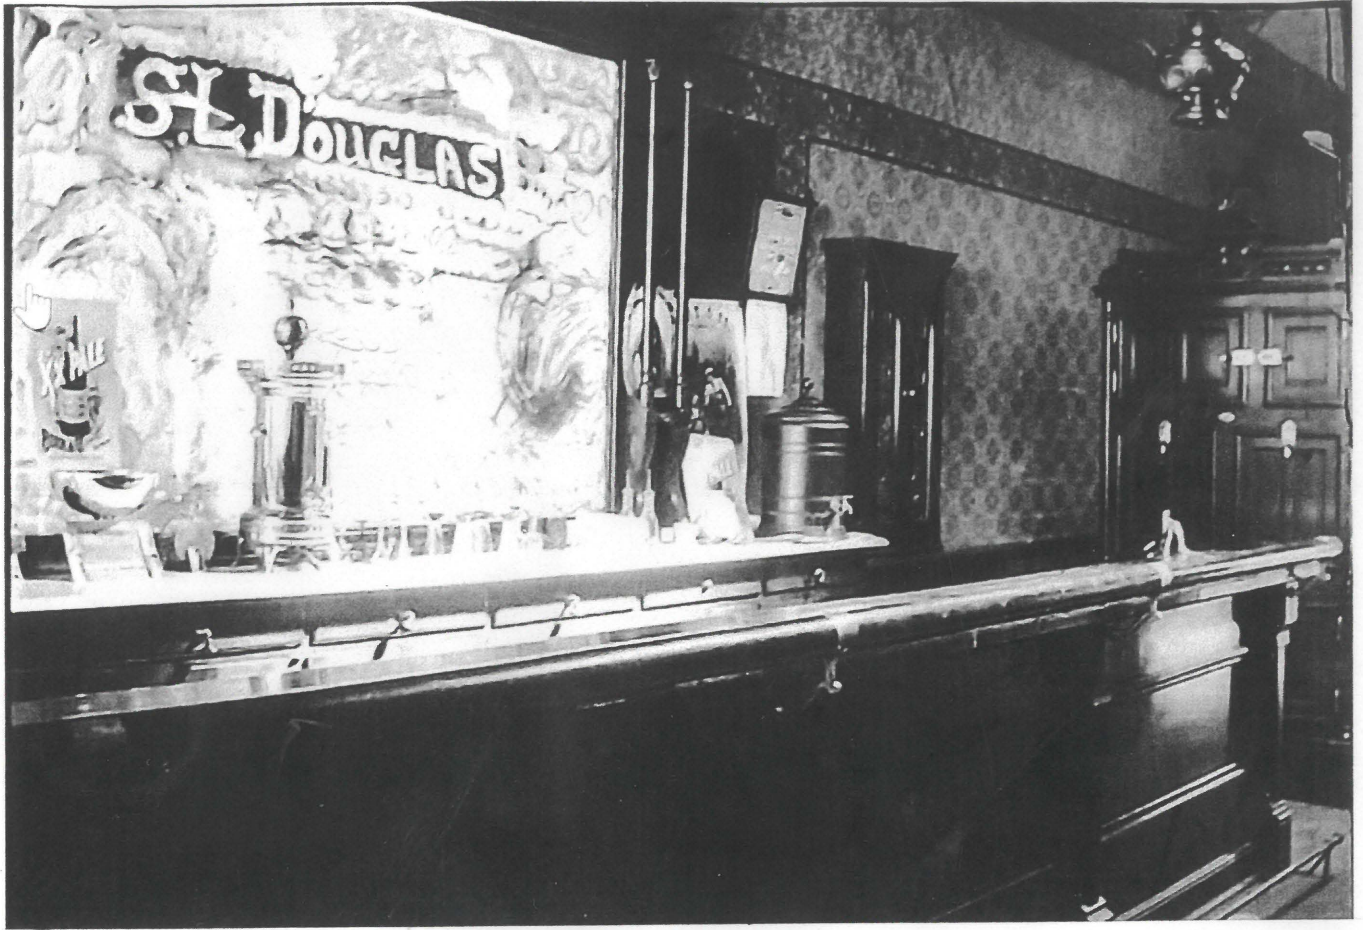

Carrie Nation's visit to the Douglas saloon, a very orderly establishment as Moore recalls, was the only one she made in this area. She smashed bottles and glasses, sang a hymn and told Douglas he had better repent.

Throughout the performance Sam stood at the far end of the bar and never uttered a word. When the female wreckers left, he calmly cleaned up the mess.

When word of the incident got around town, other saloonkeepers kept their doors locked lest the ax-swinging females call on them.

MAIN STREET BAR. This is a view of the interior of the Sam L. Douglas saloon, believed to have been taken in the 1890's. It was located on Main St. where Joe's Market is now situated. D. B. Moore, in his book "My Home Town, Gekelemukpechunk," said Sam's place was orderly and that swearing and loud talk was not permitted. "Sam's saloon was the only local place visited by Carrie Nation of hatchet-swinging fame", Mr. Moore said. While Carrie and her satellites wrecked the place, Sam stood at the far end of the bar and never said a word.

Having been in business in downtown Newcomerstown for 20 years, Mrs. Mary Visintainer is in a position to develop many observations. She and her husband, Joe operate Joe's Market on Main st.

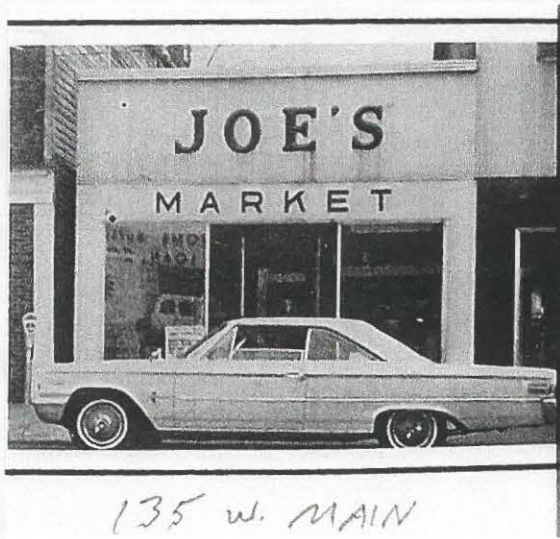

"This is a wonderful community," she says, "the most friendly

I've ever seen. When you walk up the street, everyone you meet speaks to you."

She added some of her views on needs for improvement, which included installation of public restrooms in the downtown area, a return to Saturday night openings for retail businesses and, hopefully, locate another large industry to the area.

CAMEO STYLING SALON

Helen Riffle, owner and operator of the Cameo on Main Street, with client, Esther Schworm.

Cameo Beauty Salon

It can be argued that over the years, Helen Riffle has done more to keep the village of Newcomerstown looking good than any other individual.

That's because for the past 59 years, she's been helping the women of Newcomerstown as the owner and operator of the Cameo Styling Salon, 135 W. Main St., Newcomerstown.

Mrs. Riffle has owned the Cameo Styling Salon for nearly 60 years. The shop was originally opened in the early 1930's by a Mrs. Corp, with Mrs. Riffle taking over the reins in 1936.

"This past year has been productive and growing," Mrs. Riffle said. "We strive to give the absolute best service and care. We support our community and keep up with the latest in designs and equipment."

Mrs. Riffle said the Cameo Styling Salon uses the best products available and offers full hair care for the whole family.

For more information or to make an appointment, contact Mrs. Riffle at 135 W. Main St., Newcomerstown, or call her at 614-498-7337.

WHAT'S YOUR BIZ?

Cameo Beauty

July 5, 2020 135 W Main

We took time to catch up with the gals at Cameo Beauty Salon. The Cameo has been a part of the Newcomerstown Village since 1930.

Please tell us a little about yourself, family, and Cameo Beauty Salon:

"My family includes my husband, Jeff, and my grown daughter, Jennifer and her family. I have one sister, as well as her loved ones, who are very dear to me. My co-workers – Diane Throckmorton, a part of the Cameo for the last 50 years, and Christy-Guy-Kitzmann, a 20 year stylist with us, and our many valued customers – are all family too. Most of our clients have been patrons of the Cameo for many years.

"I have been a part of the Cameo Beauty Salon for over 52 years, and owner since 2003. The original Cameo Beauty Shop was started by Mrs. Kopp in 1930, and was located over the old Baltimore Clothing Store. Mrs. Helen Riffle bought the shop in 1935, and later moved the Cameo to the present location in 1982. So you can see, we have quite a history in Newcomerstown as a long-time salon for women, men, and children of all ages."

What challenges do you face as a small business owner in Newcomerstown?

"Our current clientele are very faithful, and long-time customers most with standing appointments each week. Unfortunately, many have passed away. Diane, Christy and I want to stay around for our remaining customers, and hope to welcome some new ones. We know it is hard for some residents to get out of town, especially right now, and we are happy to accept new clients. Diane and I continue to cut, set with rollers, and we also perm our customers hair when requested. Christy cuts, colors and highlights with foils, and is pretty precise with her curling iron. Each one of us are all very flexible with our schedules, and want to accommodate anyone looking for a new shop to call home.

"In addition, a challenge we did face was closing the shop for a few months during the beginning of the COVID-19 outbreak. This was something we had never experienced in all of our years as hairdressers. It was difficult for myself, Diane, and Christy; as well as our clients. Some of our customers make their hair appointment day the opportunity to get out and run errands, and shop in style with their new hairdo for the week. We missed each and every one, and worried about them as well. We are glad to be back, and taking precautions to keep our clients safe at the Cameo."

What would your vision be for our Newcomerstown Main Street business area?

"I think like the other small business owners on Main Street, we would love to see more neighbors opening shops, and less vacant buildings. I have seen many changes to our Main Street over the years – some good, and some not, but I still believe this little village has what it takes to have it all."

What would you like to highlight for us?

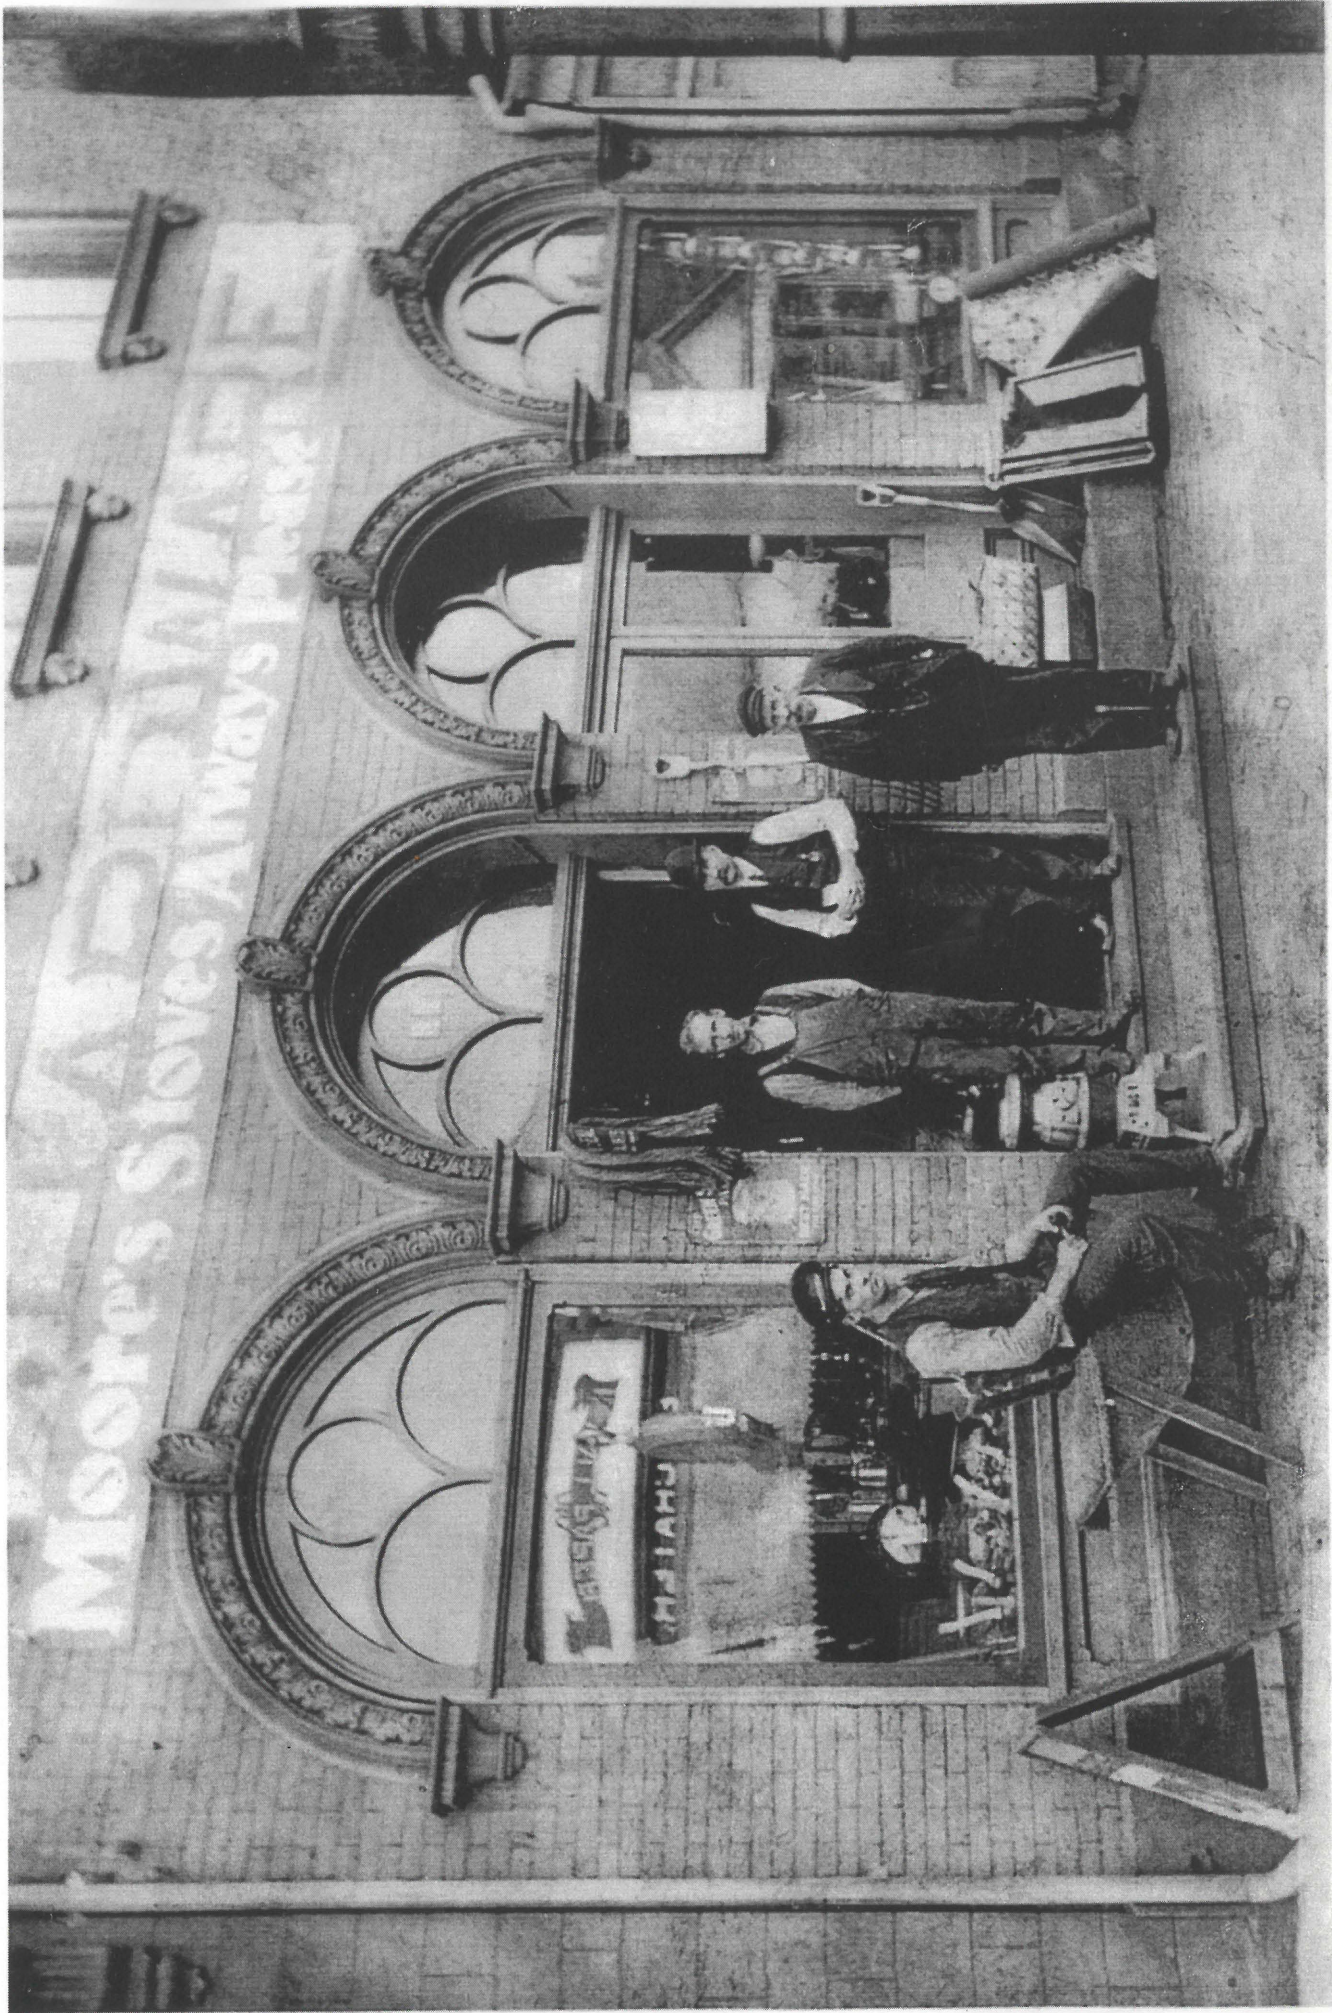

"The Cameo is so fortunate to have enjoyed such a long and viable business in our community. To think, the Cameo started a business venture in 1930, and only three owners in a period of 90 years. This is very gratifying and impressive indeed. I am proud to have been here for 52 of those years. I have seen generations of customers, and I know myself, Diane and Christy hope to see at least one or two more generations come through our doors at the Cameo.

"We are here to make your hair appointment relaxing and a great experience. There is nothing better than a great cut, style, and cup of our famous coffee. Our Newcomerstown and other community neighbors hold a very special place in all our hearts, and we love the relationships we have formed, and the friends we have made as a part of the Cameo Beauty Salon history in Newcomerstown.

"If you are looking for a hometown salon, we are happy and honored to call you part of the Cameo family. We love basing our business brand on positivity and attention to detail. Please give us a call and we promise to continue providing our top notch services to all existing customers, as well as new ones. We been here since 1930, and we are not planning on going anywhere!"

DESTROYED BY FIRE. NCT News

The first fire which has visited this city for some time happened Saturday night. Miller & Young's meat market was badly burned and the new Vogenitz block, near it, scorched.

The fire was discovered about 10.30 p. m., by persons in Vogenitz's pool room. It had evidently caught from a defective flue and was just breaking through the roof, burning fiercely, when discovered. An alarm was given and the department quickly responded but there was some delay about getting to work. When it did however much was accomplished, and in a very short time the flames were under control.

The building was a frame structure and the flames made good headway. The building just west is also a wooden affair and would undoubtedly have burned also had it not been that a good breeze was blowing eastward. This carried the flames to the Vogenitz block, which is of brick, and windows were scorched and broken in and the rooms filled with smoke. At one place where a brick had been left out after a scaffold had been taken down when the building was erected, the flames entered and caught the woodwork under the floor, but this was immediately discovered and extinguished. Had it not been found when it was it would have proved serious and the building would have been gutted.

The loss to Miller & Young was covered by insurance in the Milwaukee Mechanics, an adjustment of which was made yesterday and set at $275.29. The building was not insured.

There's always something new to see at Ginny's Discount, 143 W. Main St., Newcomerstown.

Larry and Ginny Bates, with store manager Pam Walker, have put together one of the more interesting collections of items available for sale in the Newcomerstown region.

From furniture to used books, Ginny's Discount is a kaliedoscope of this and that, of knicks and knacks, of long-sought after items that you thought you'd never find, of impulse buying at its best. It's hard to walk into Ginny's Discount with-Ginny's Discount opened in Newcomerstown on April 3 in 1990 and has expanded to double its original size since that time.

"We have had a very good year in 1994," Ginny said. "People are coming from other towns just to shop here. We're looking forward to an even better 1995. We've started handling better quality furniture and we are handling the kind of items people need."

Couple believes in Nc'town Main Street

By Kristie Wilkin
 Times-Reporter correspondent

NEWCOMERSTOWN Mike and Jen LaVigne are local residents who continue to believe in Newcomerstown Main Street.

They are adding a third business to their portfolio on June 19 as The Midwest Gypsy, a new boutique, promises to offer shoppers a charmed destination to purchase a myriad of items for gifts or for yourself.

"We hope to offer you that vintage and exclusive feel in a relaxed environment," said Jen LaVigne, proprietor of Midwest Gypsy.

"Our collection will include stylish jewelry, re-purposed furniture, antiques, succulents, chocolates, and so much more. My blueprint is to offer these treasures at an affordable price, so our Newcomerstown residents and visitors from other nearby communities can shop locally."

Mike and Jen have definitely proven their love for the Newcomerstown community by launching this third business on Main Street.

The couple has owned Fit 4 You Nutrition, formerly located on the Newcomerstown Square, since 2015. Then they bought the building at their present location at 143 W. Main ■ Mike and Jen LaVigne plan to open The Midwest Gypsy in Newcomerstown on June 19.

St. In addition to moving the nutrition part of the business; the transition to the new building included opening a 24-hour gym and fitness center, including a sauna, tanning beds and exercise classes.

The design has been in the works for their new business venture for several months, but when the gym was forced to close due to the COVID 19 virus, they turned a negative into a positive, and accomplished yet another major remodeling project.

Cardio equipment has been moved to the second floor, the Nutrition Shop has relocated to the middle of the first floor, new bathrooms have been added, as well as updated plumbing, new paint, and an additional makeover to The Midwest Gypsy area which will replace the Nutrition shop area in the front of the building.

"Opening a third business was a very tough decision — other communities have seen our improvements to Newcomerstown's Main Street, and our flair for business ventures," Jen said.

"Many were reaching out to us to relocate our small businesses. However, we love Newcomerstown and we believe there is more to come to our quaint Main Street. We love the petite start local businesses. Every community should have that one street full of shops operated by your friends and neighbors that are affordable, friendly, and much needed — especially for people wanting to maintain their business in Newcomerstown. We want to be a major part of that development in Newcomerstown."

Jen added, "The gym is back up and running 24 hours a day with no issues. Cameras monitor the activities, and we are pleased everyone is following the guidelines set forth. We have hired a third shift employee to deep clean and disinfect the three businesses, and that is going well. Exercise classes will be resuming soon, with the proper guidelines and social distancing. I also want to take this opportunity to thank our Nutrition customers. We didn't have to close this part of the business for COVID 19, and it helped so much in sustaining our business, and keeping everyone informed of improvements and communications. We have received many calls from people wanting to switch to our gym. I think the reason for that is there is no feeling uncomfortable here — we have an awesome membership that just wants to support their fellow members in any goals they are determined to meet, or

"We hear every day how Newcomerstown residents want to see that thriving Main Street again," Mike said.

"I hope we are a major part of making that happen. We welcome more neighbors downtown to just aid each other as they combat the stresses of life"

Jen and Mike both want to convey their thanks to their employees who have worked so hard to make sure all standards are being followed, those who assisted in the remodeling phase, and all customers for their continued support.

Jen notes: "I do not want to give up on Newcomerstown. I want to be a local business owner for many years, and hope to encourage other entrepreneurs to make Newcomerstown Main Street their location. I have enjoyed re-purposing many of the pieces that will be available for sale in the new shop.

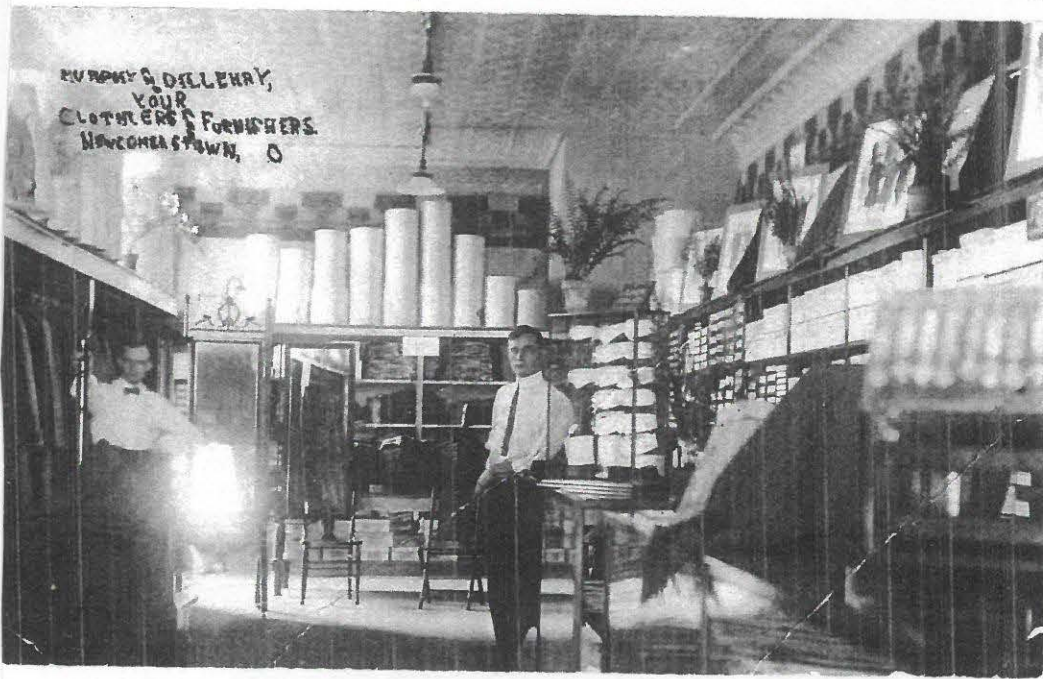

"Being able to create something gives you such an empowering feeling. The final product is always worth the labor. It tests my imagination, but brings me so much joy. I feel blessed to share in another aspect of community camaraderie. Please stop in and visit our Main Street location — we would love to show you around all three endeavors."

Dale Thompson, Texas, sent The News this old photo of a downtown Newcomerstown building (we're fairly certain it's Solid Rock at this time). The building, particularly the upper level, appears to be damaged by fire, and Mr. Thompson speculates the fire may have occurred prior to the 1913 flood.

A DESTRUCTIVE FIRE

Visits Our City and Causes Considerable Damage.

One of the most destructive fires in the history of our city broke out at 3:30 last Friday morning, and although it was confined to one large building, the loss was considerable. The blaze originated in the garret of the O. A. Vogenitz veneer brick two-story building on Central Main st., probably from a defective flue. The fire was discovered by Charles Crater, who resides across the canal diagonally from the building, the light shining in his window. He immediately turned in the alarm by phone, and the fire department responded as quickly as possible.— By this time the flames had worked their way through the cornice and windows at the rear end of the building, and the second story was filled with smoke. This condition was due largely to a sheet-iron roof which prevented the flames and smoke from escaping at top of the structure. Several hose were applied through the upper windows, but the water did not seem to reach the right spot, as the flames appeared to be working mostly in the garret, and forcing their way downward along the veneer sheeting.— It was evidently a hard proposition for the firemen to handle, and their efforts were greatly retarded by the cold condition of the weather which froze their hands and the surface parts of the fire-hose and other apparatus. The firemen fought stubbornly and bravely on until the roof caved in, when the flames could be reached and were finally subdued. Many suggestions of course were made, which the firemen did not think feasible, and acted on their own best judgment, without recklessly endangering their lives. They worked in a most self-sacrificing manner for twelve long hours before they felt that they had conquered the flames, and they all deserve praise and double pay for their strenuous and efficient efforts. For a while it looked as if the fire might find its way into the Crater hardware building through a side door only three feet away, protected by the frail roof of a stairway, but fortunately the flames did not reach it, and the building escaped with slight damage. It is very generally conceded that if were not for the water-works and the very high pressure it affords, this great fire would have been fought in vain, and many more thousand dollars of property would have gone up in

News 17 Jan 1906

The Vogenitz building, valued at $8000, is a total wreck; roofless, water-soaked, and gutted from second floor to garret. Mr. Vogenitz had a large stock of dry goods and notions on first floor, east side, and a big line of rugs, carpets, etc., on second floor, valued at $12,000, all more or less damaged. He is now temporarily located in the Julia Bell building, West Main st., and will put his building in tenatable condition as soon as possible. The insurance on building, stock and fixtures has not, as yet, been adjusted, but no difficulty along this line is apprehended. Murphy & Dillehay, clothiers, who occupied the first floor, west side, and part of the second floor, with a stock valued at $14,000, had most of their goods damaged or destroyed, on which they had $6,550 insurance. They have secured the Kandy Kitchen rooms in the Sells-Burris building and will soon open up anew. Dr. J. A. Calhoun's dental rooms on second floor, east side, are a total wreck. Loss about $500, only half insured. Mr. Calhoun will occupy the large room in the Brode building, over Barnett's feed store, at lower canal bridge. Probably

A great many young men are not pleased with ordinary clothes. They are anxious to be dressed up-to-date, and are disappointed with the suit some sleepy clerk shoved on them, or disgusted with the lemon some tailor handed them and for want of the proper solution, they simply wear this or that.

Another tribute became a reality when in 1975 "Cy Young Baseball Museum opened to the public with all kinds of baseball memorabilia. This was done with a dedication ceremony and parade with many sports notables attending and taking part in the ceremonies. Dean Chance, Red Ruffing, and Charles Hughes attended just to name a few. Much of the memorabilia was donated by Tom Eakin of Cleveland, who had had the dream of a Cy Young Baseball Museum for years.

Again in 1976 a hugh parade and Enshrinement Ceremonies were held and the Museum has become the official "Ohio Baseball Hall of Fame".

Father's barber shop remembered by children

We Wilson sisters (Betty McMullen, Esther Buehler and Mable Little) remember our father as having been a barber all his life.

Our first recollection of his barber shop was when it was located in the old Fountain (Cooley) Hotel which stood on Bridge Street in the block now occupied by the J&H Grill. This was probably in the 1930's. Two of his helpers were Marshall Gardner and Bill McKim.

On the wall of the shop was a framed picture of the "Post Boy Tree."

Bay rum was used as an aftershave, but one faithful customer liked to drink it and often asked to buy a bottle.

The shop was open from early morning until anytime in the evening in the week but always until nine p.m. on Saturday. We remember the hitching rail (now removed) for the horses. It was in the square. Hair cuts were 25 cents and shaves were 15 cents, including a hot towel steam treatment.

One task as daughters was to carry the lunch and dinner in a basket during the summum months and on Saturdays. Another task that was ours was to paint the barber poles' red and white strips. The pole sat by the front door of the shop. We were also expected to keep the windows washed.

Our pay for these chores was five cents. That seemed like big pay as we could go around the corner to the Home Restaurant, operated by Charlene Schumacher and Margaret Heifner and buy two ice cream cones for that nickel. The Home Restaurant stood next door to Swigert's Hardware and "harness shop." The building now houses Coshocton Automotive II.

One of hie pleasant memories of the shop was the free rides around and around in the barber chair. Dad had a board plank he laid across the arms of the chair to raise the little ones to his height when he cut their hair.

The present owner of the shop, Bob Poland, worked as an apprentice under our father, and later bought the business. We will always be grateful to Bob, as he patiently let our Dad come and go as he pleased until long after retirement age.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 3,

COUNTY POULTRY SHOW.

Fine Exhibits. Elegant Prizes. Large List of Entries.

Secretary F. D. Mulvane of the Tuscarawas County Poultry Association informs us that everything is in readiness for the annual county exhibit to be held in Newcomerstown, Jan'y 10, 11, 12 and 13, 1906. All entries must be in the secretary's hands by 6 p. m. Jan'y 8th, and stock must be in the exhibition hall by 6 p. m., Jan'y 9. Judging will begin at 9 a. m. Jan'y 11th.

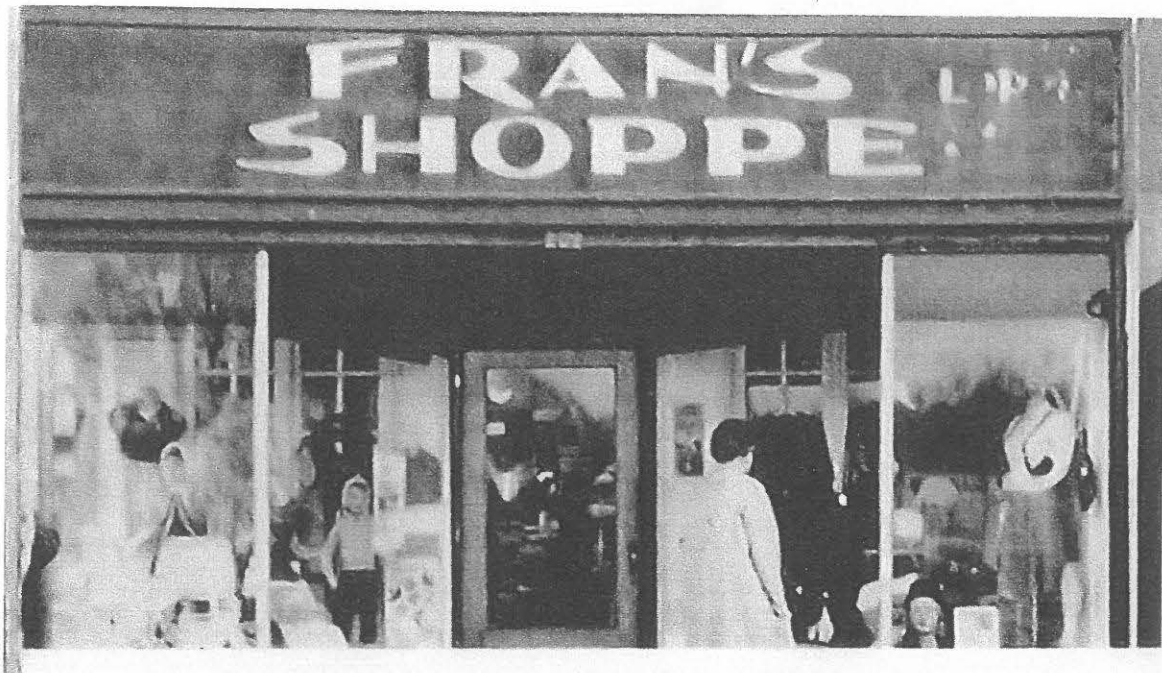

The indications are that the display will be very large, probably five or six hundred coops. Two incubators will be in operation, one of which is offered as a prize by M. M. Johnson Co. of Clay Center, Nebraska. All sorts of prizes and premiums are offered by the Association and business men, so that all exhibitors will stand a good chance of winning something.

The services of Theo. Hewes of Indianapolis, Ind., editor of the Inland Poultry Journal, has been secured as judge upon this occasion, and he bears a national reputation for superior ability and fairness.

Admission, adults 15 cts; children under 12 years, 10cts. The secretary authorizes us to mention that school children will be admitted free from 3 to 6 p. m. on Thursday, Jan'y 11th.

The Vogenitz building, corner of Main and Cross sts., is an ideal place for holding the exhibit, and will furnish ample accommodation. Our business men have encouraged the project very much by taking good ad. spaces in the catalogue and premium books that have been issued by the Association, and by offering individual premiums. The exhibit will probably be the largest and best ever held in this county, and the attendance promises to be a record-breaker. Let everybody come. Jan. 1906

Ralph R. Marlowe, 51, widely known Newcomerstown resident, was killed instantly at 10:25 Sunday morning, when a small plane which he was piloting crashed on the highway adjoining Welker airport at West Lafayette.

Mr. Marlow had taken up the plane, a Piper Cub J-3 alone, a short time before the fatal crash. He was coming in for a landing and apparently misjudged his height, with the result that the tail of the ship caught in a tree at the edge of Fairfield cemetery.

The plane crashed upside down on the Plainfield road, leading out of West Lafayette, directly in front of the administration building at Welker field.

Mrs. R. M. Marlowe, at the age of 72, had her first plane ride last week with her son, Ralph Marlowe, West State st. as the pilot.

Mr. Marlowe, who received his private pilot's license earlier in the month, landed a Piper Cub from the Cambridge airport in Fletcher's Field, near his mother's home, two miles west of Newcomerstown on the Coshocton road. It was the first time Mr. Marlowe had carried a passenger.

Mr. Marlowe also took his father up, but it was not his first ride.

The plane was owned by the Lafayette Airmen Flying club, of which Mr. Marlowe was secretary. Dave Fletcher, president of the club and close friend of Mr. Marlowe, said the craft was virtually destroyed mechanically although the damage did not seem extensive from external appearances.

Mr. Marlowe

Mr. Marlowe held a private pilot's license and was an enthusiastic amateur flyer. He started taking lessons about two and a half years ago and had some 150 hours of flying time to his credit.

Mr. Marlowe, who lived at 425 West State st. in Newcomerstown, was born Aug. 29, 1897, in Guernsey county, the son of Riley M. and Jane Mariatt Marlowe, of Newcomerstown Route 3, both of whom survive.

The elder Mr. Marlowe is the retired superintendent of Newcomerstown schools.

On June 9, 1923, Mr. Marlowe married Virginia Welsh, who survives. She is manager of the Welsh and Marlowe shoe store in Newcomerstown.

Mr. Marlowe was a technician and telephone dispatcher for the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. at Cambridge. He graduated from Newcomerstown high school in 1916 and for several years was a railroad telegraph operator.

In addition to his wife and parents, he is survived by two brothers, Clyde of Newcomerstown Route 3, and Donald of Zanesville, and a sister, Mrs. Noble Sherrard of New Philadelphia.

Mr. Marlowe was a member of the Presbyterian church; was current master of Love Star lodge 175, F. & A. M.; a member of Nugen chapter 124 R. A. M.; the Scottish Rite of Cambridge; Coshocton Council 110 R. & S. M.; Scottish Rite club of Newcomerstown; Oriental chapter, OES, American Legion and the Elks lodge.

Services will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday at the Bonnell funeral home in Newcomerstown, in charge of Rev. Donald M. Doss. Burial will be in West Lawn cemetery. Masonic services will be held at 8 p. m. Tuesday at the funeral home. Friends may call at the funeral home from 2 to 4 p. m. and from 7 to 9 p. m. Tuesday.

The Feed Barn offers unique items in Newcomerstown

By Kristie Wilkin
Times-Reporter Correspondent

Jeff, tell us a little about yourself, your family, and the Feed Barn.

Kelly and I are life-time residents of the Newcomerstown area, and we both graduated from Newcomerstown High School. We have raised our two sons here, and they still reside in the area as well. In addition, we have a grandson, and three granddaughters. I spent the majority of my career at the Conesville Power Plant. However, as it moved closer to my plan of retirement, I knew I wanted to keep busy for many more years.

I thought about several options, but after looking into what our area needed most; we decided to open the Feed Barn in Newcomerstown.

We were lucky to find a location on Main Street, and thus we introduced our new endeavor to Newcomerstown residents in December 1998. We are proud to be a part of the Main Street family for 22 years.

When we first started the business; Kelly and I were the only ones working and running the Feed Barn on a day-to-day basis. I did end up retiring from the power plant in 2013, and then I began spending more than my regular days off and vacations working along with Kelly.

At that time, I also expanded the business offerings, and that encompassed hiring some employees. We have been fortunate to have Barb Gribble - (Office Manager) with us for over 13 years, and Dustin Lehman spent 10 years here as well. Doyle Donathan currently has three years with us.

Kelly has always handled our bookkeeping and finances since the beginning. We have been fortunate to have excellent people as a part of the Feed Barn Family over the years, and that has added to the success of our business enterprise.

Although feed and animal supplies were our start; we have evolved in making so many more products available to you and your family.

We want to be that local hub where you know you can drive thru and pick-up anything you need all in one place. If it walks, crawls, swims, or flies, we probably have a product designed to meet your pet and animal requirements.

Our staff is very knowledgeable about each and every one of our products, and we are happy to answer any questions you may have. We care both about our customers and their animals.

With the right nutrition and care, your pets will provide you and your family with years of laughter, comfort, and dedication. We are here to assist in making that happen.

For our farm and commercial customers; we offer other products to keep your lawn and gardens looking impeccable all summer long.

Some of our seasonal items include hanging baskets, vegetable plants, seeds and mulch. We do offer delivery service for mulch and other larger items.

We just started carrying bottled water, as that was a requested item from customers.

In addition, at the start of Covid 19, we were one of the few with a supply of toilet paper for sale. We also recently had a request for strong, good quality paper towels, and we immediately added that

We want to be your one-stop shop. If we don't have it, please ask, and we will get it. Delivery service is also offered to our customers.

to our inventory at the Feed Barn.

I am constantly thinking how and what I can bring in to make life easier for our Newcomerstown residents. I am all about hometown, and doing my part to make any needed item available in Newcomerstown.

What is your most popular selling item at the Feed Barn?

I am sure you have all heard of Bigfoot - the large, ape-like creature that dwells in the wilderness and leaves huge footprints. He has been claimed to have been spotted all over, but you can definitely spot him outside of the Feed Barn.

I started selling Bigfoot Statues of all sizes several years ago, and they are my most popular item. People have traveled from all over just to have their picture taken with our large Big Foot that stand out front of the store. The pictures are free, and we welcome you to stop in and see Bigfoot, as well as our other statues that may feature a few other famous celebrities.

What would you like to highlight for us?

First and foremost, the Feed Barn is always here to support our local children at the County Fairs.

We are sad that this isn't going to be a normal fair season, but we are hoping it will still be a great experience full of traditions and memories.

The Feed Barn is very diverse - we aren't just a feed barn, but your local Newcomerstown hub. We are here to make your hometown shopping experience easy and stress free. Drive thru and tell us what you need. We will load it in your vehicle or deliver to you. If we don't have it - we will get it.

I invite you to stop in, and see what the Feed Barn has to offer, and also to check out our Feed Barn Facebook Page or call 740-498-6406 with questions.

In addition, Kelly and I have some exciting news! Even though we have always lived within the village or right outside of town, as we do currently; we will soon be building a new house inside the village limits, and will be residents of Newcomerstown.

I am excited to continue to work on my Main Street properties, as well as getting more involved in our wonderful community.

Explore The Feed Barn for Great Variety

Drive through The Feed Barn to pick up items for your farm, feed for your animals, and supplies for your pets. Owners Jeff and Kelly Eggleston have lived in Newcomerstown all their life so know what people want and need.

They started The Feed Barn in 1998 when Jeff was thinking about a business he could have after retirement. Jeff says, "If it walks, crawls, swims, or flies, we probably have a product designed to meet your pet and animal requirements."

They carry many items that you wouldn't really expect at a Feed Barn. Bottled water is a big seller as well as landscaping articles and gifts. A look inside will amaze you at the great variety of things available. If you ask for it, Jeff and Kelly will try their best to find it.

Everyone can give you easy directions to The Feed Barn. Just drive down Main Street until you see a large statue of Bigfoot, which stands right outside the front of their store. Over the years, there have been many stories of Bigfoot associated with Newcomerstown and the surrounding area.

Various sizes of statues of Bigfoot are their most popular items as people come from all around to purchase one there. Many just stop to have their picture taken with Bigfoot or hear a tale about this illusive creature.

In the summertime, they carry mulch, garden plants, hanging baskets, and all those seeds you need to start a garden. Pick up your gardening tools while shopping.

They are eager to supply everything you want and will even deliver to your house. Located at 205 Main Street, their hours are 9-5:30 Monday - Friday and 9-2 on Saturday. Sunday is their day to rest and relax.

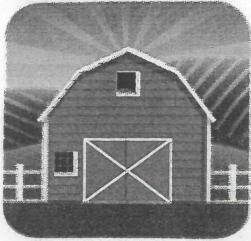

It's easy to see that Jeff and Kelly are home town folks as Jeff remarked, "I am constantly thinking home and what I can bring in to make life easier for our Newcomerstown residents. I am all about home town, and doing my part to make any needed items available in Newcomerstown."

Sept. 1904 About Finished.

For several weeks our citizens have watched with interest the progress of the excavation work and the laying of the foundation for the Dent L. Lydick block soon to be erected at the corner of Main and River streets. The dirt from the huge cellar was utilized by the village council in making certain street grades and necessary fills about town. The south wall and part of the westside foundation was made of concrete, and Messrs. Leonhart, Stitt and Ley laid the balance of the cellar wall in a neat and substantial manner with the stone that was originally under the building, which was removed because of fire. We now look forward to the development of the fine brick structure which Mr. Lydick proposes to erect on this finely prepared site.

Mr. Lydick's fine brick building on Main street is progressing in good shape, and the bricklayers, Mr. J. J. Rusk and sons George and Charles are doing excellent work.

MAY 22, 2022

Another local couple is putting faith in Main Street Newcomerstown as they just opened Now & Then Guns-N-Stuff at 211 W. Main St., on May 6. The location is next to the Feed Barn. Kevin and Robyn Hanenkrat are the owners, and they are extremely excited with moving their in-home business to a separate location.

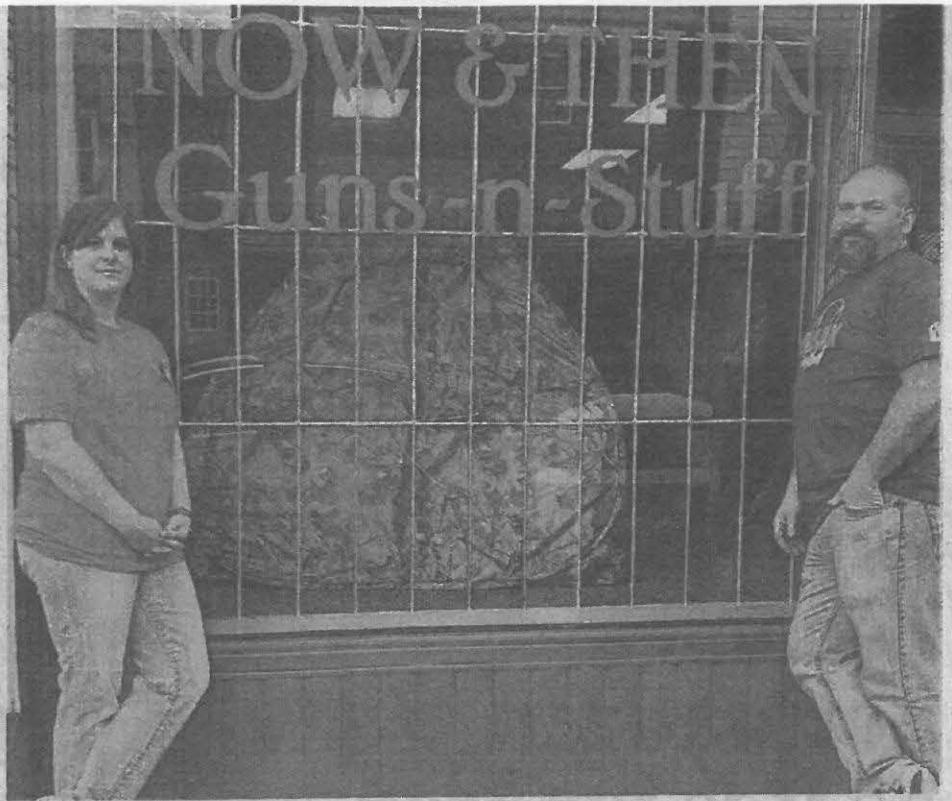

"I had the shop both online, and in my home since 2017, but my business has grown as well as my family. Robyn Hickman Hanenkrat and I were recently married, and I went from having just my daughter and myself to a five-person household. We are also a dog-loving family, and have five altogether," noted Kevin.

Once the couple made the decision to relocate Now & Then Guns-N-Stuff in the village, they consulted with Robyn's uncle, Ron Hickman of Old Towne Realty, and he assisted in finding the perfect storefront for them. The business is independently owned, and very family oriented. Kevin and Robyn have received tons of support from their daughters — Hailee, Mady, and Libby — as well as both of their families.

"We offer both new and used guns, as well as ammo, powder/primers, holsters, gun cleaning supplies, reloading supplies, scopes, and many more hunting and gun accessories," Kevin pointed out. "We also will be carrying LaCrosse boots in the near future. I am happy to special order any item you are looking for when available. You may order online for your convenience with shipping options or pick up at Now & Then Guns-N-Stuff.

"Another brand we are proud to offer is our own NTGS Customs, which includes custom or ready to sell apparel, decals, tumblers, and more. Robyn can customize any tumbler or apparel (among other items) with your own design. We also feature a unique Nana's Corner with elements my mom crafts such as quilts, bears, unique kid's purses, and other gift pieces. There is something for everyone at Now & Then Guns-N-Stuff."

"While Kevin grew up at Atwood Lake and moved to the area 16 years ago for work, I have resided in the village or close my entire life, and I am an NHS graduate. When we decided it was time to expand out of our house, we knew Newcomerstown was the place for us," Robyn said. "I love the community, and Kevin has come to love it too. It is the small-town atmosphere I want our children to experience. We enjoy being involved with our three daughter's activities including volleyball and softball, as well as

Gasoline Age Made Debut Here In '98

The "gasoline age" started in Newcomerstown in 1898 when a motorcycle or automobile on the streets was such a curiosity that it always attracted a big crowd.

Dent Lydick, father of H. J. Lydick bought the first motorcycle here in 1898. It was a Mitchell and because the roads were gravel, it threw him off once or twice about everytime he took it out.

In 1900 the automobile came to Newcomerstown and again the first one here, a two-passenger Oldsmobile with the engine under the seat and crank on the side, was purchased by Dent Lydick. It never got very far away from home but it did make one trip as far as Coshocton and one to Uhrichsville. Mr. Lydick's next car was a Cadillac and was so efficient that it could get to Cleveland and back with only a few breakdowns.

It was in 1914 during Newcomerstown's Centennial Celebration that H. J. Lydick became the first person in town to take an airplane ride. The pilot, a Mr. Sherrick of Canton, tried three times to get the plane off the I. W. George pasture field. Each time he failed. So Mr. Lydick had to drive over to Daugherty field while the pilot flew over by himself (he could make it with only one person in the plane). From there they succeeded in making a flight.

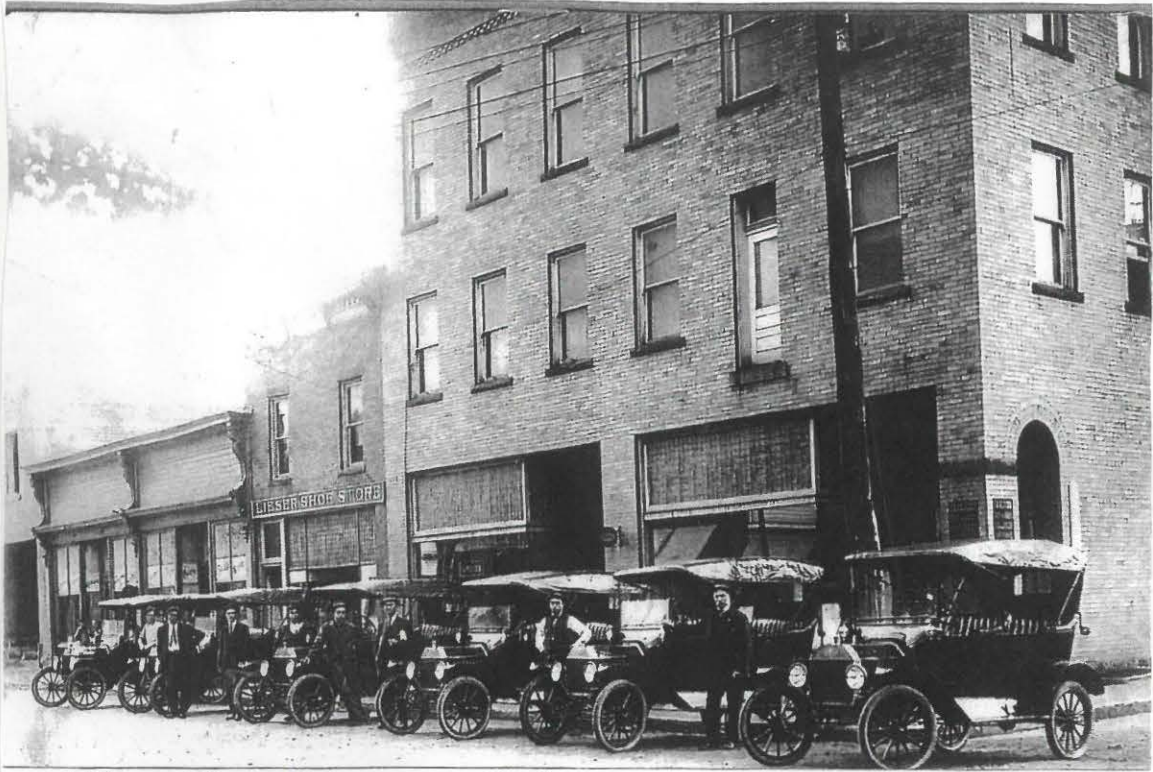

Building on left side has been Porter Mitchell Saloon, Charles Lieser Shoe Store and Red and White Grocery Store. Three story brick building has been Lydick Furniture & Funeral Home and Leading Tire Store on left side. On right side Neighbor Clothing Store and Cooper Furniture Store. S. LYDICK AHEAD.

He's the First Person in Town to Buy An Automobile.

To Mr. D. L. Lydick, our popular Main-st. furniture dealer, belongs the credit of having been the first citizen of our town to purchase a 20th-century horseless vehicle. It is what is styled the Oldsmobile, and was manufactured by the Olds Motor Company of Detroit, Mich., who have constructed motors for the past 23 years. The vehicle is propelled by a 4½ H. P. gasoline motor, and travels at the rate of 20 to 25 miles per hour, consuming only about one-half cent's worth of gasoline per mile. The retail price of the vehicle is $625.00. Mr. Lydick purchased the mobile from a gentleman in New Phil'a, who brought it from the West for exhibition. It has a nobby appearance, possesses a smooth, quiet and steady action, and is easily controlled. The explosions are made by a current of electricity, which makes the vehicle ready for instant use. We congratulate Mr. Lydick on his purchase.

REVITALIZATION SET — Henry Schrickel, right, a Newcomerstown chiropractic physician, and Chamber of Commerce President Gary King view the planned revitalization area of the southern Tuscarawas County

3 Museums To Highlight Newcomerstown Downtown Upgrading Set

By Dave Mathews
Of The Dispatch Staff

NEWCOMERSTOWN, Ohio — This village is planning a downtown revitalization hinged on two existing museums and a large, future one.

The chamber of commerce conducted a study on upgrading the area. Some building owners are ready to start improving exteriors.

THE CHAMBER is incorporating a growth corporation to purchase downtown properties from absentee landlords to speed the revitalization of buildings.

The chamber also has a 20-member revitalization committee made up of businessmen, professional people, housewives, and others to lead the restoration. Richard Young, an attorney, is the chairman.

A key to the revitalization plan is a pedestrian plaza located off the main business street in an area near the Cy Young Ohio Baseball Hall of Fame Museum.

THE PLANS CALL for a new museum. Gary King, president of the chamber of commerce and local head of the museum, says only 15 or 20 percent of the materials available for the museum are on display.

A new museum would permit display of the other material and better exhibition of the present items, King says. By removing some present buildings for a new baseball museum, the plaza would provide pedestrian access to the Temperance House Tavern Museum, a building which was located on the banks of the Ohio Canal.

The canal heritage of Temperance House Tavern will probably provide a canal motif for the plaza, King says.

THE MUSEUM which officials believe will be the big attraction for the revitalization is the future Shannon Rogers Museum. It is to be located next to Tavern House Museum on Canal St.

Shannon Rogers, a famed New York clothes designer and a native of the area, wants to establish the museum to house the Elizabeth Chapman Rogers collection, named for his mother.

Rogers has a collection of some 1,500 pieces which includes gowns from Indian, Oriental and modern cultures. It also features art pottery, including Ming, and a type of jade of which only six pieces are known in the world.

KING SAYS THE revitalization consultants have seen the collection and are "tremendously impressed" by it.

The new museum is expected to include a cultural and study center on the top floor of the large, yellow-brick building.

Young says Newcomerstown is ripe for revitalization. Like many towns, its business buildings date back to the early 1900's. Since the lifetime of such buildings is 50 to 70 years, it's time for a decision on the future of many of them.

HE ALSO BELIEVES that the day of tearing down old buildings which are still useful has passed and estimates that 70 percent of future building work will focus on renovation.

Local officials are very optimistic that their project can be carried out. The program needs grant money for the plaza. Consultants have advised them there is money and that the Newcomerstown project should qualify for grants.
